HOOVER DEFIES UPPER CHAMBER IN 'POWER FIGHT'

Chief Executive Declines to Resubmit Nominations of Chairman Smith and Commissioner Garsaud and Draper of Power Commission—New Battle Royal With Coalition of Republican Independents and Democrats Looms.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(AP)—President Hoover today declined to resubmit to the senate the nominations of Chairman Smith and Commissioner Garsaud and Draper of the power commission.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(AP)—President Hoover informed senate leaders he expected to reply today to the resolution requesting the return of three power commissioners' nominations.

Mr. Hoover also indicated quite clearly that he did not intend to comply.

The commissioners are Chairman George Otis Smith of Maine; Mercel Garsaud of Louisiana and Claude L Draper of Wyoming. They previously were confirmed by the senate and have taken office.

Senator Watson ,the republican leader ,was prepared to keep the senate in session today awaiting the repuly of Mr. Hoover. It is expected at the capitol to be a signal for a new battle between the president and the coalition of senate democrats and republican independents .

Asks Mitchell for Opinion .

The president requested Attorney even before the senate resolution reached his desk. The latter dropped all else at once.

Meanwhile, advocates of the motion for recall—sponsored by Walsh, democrat Montana—were considering plans for further action in event the president rejects the request, which was adopted yesterday, 44 to 37.

Senator Walsh said off the floor that as a "legal proposition the three men are no longer commissioners, but as a practical proposition there is no way of getting them out unless the president accedes to the senate's request, as I assume he will."

Despite the contention of the Montanan that the commissioners were legally out of office, their nominations were not on the senate's calendar of executive business for reconsideration.

New Battle Royal Looms.

The coalition of democrats and republican independents, which opposed the Hoover policies on tariff and farm relief in the last session, again combined to override the administration forces on the Walsh motion and another battle royal between the president and the rebellious senate is in prospect.

Refusal to vote appropriations for the commission was under consideration by the senate foes of the three commissioners. This action was being considered by a number of senators, including Dill, democrat, Washington, and Brookhart, republican Iowa, though Walsh said he wanted to talk with other members of the group before deciding.

A SLIDE BURIES 170 IN ECUADOR

Track Workers Engulfed By Avalanche From Mountainside.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Jan 10—(AP)—A landslide roaring down from the mountains along the Guayaquil and Quito railroad today buried 170 track workers who were uncovering a stretch of about 200 yards covered by a previous slide.

First reports said the slide had engulfed a train killing 170 passengers, but the railroad authorities said the only victims were the repair crew. They reassured the people, who had feared that President Isidro Ayora was aboard a train struck by the landslide.

Convicts Tunnel Way to Freedom

SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 10—(INS)—A secret seventy-foot tunnel under the prison walls was used today by five convicts in escaping from the state penitentiary here. Construction of the tunnel consumed nearly a year, prison officials believe.

Bloodhounds that followed the convicts' trail for a short distance from the prison soon lost the scent, and armed posses are scouring the countryside for the men.

Two prison guards have been suspended as a result of the break.

PROPOSES $15,000 AS BANK CAPITAL

Spence Introducing Bill to Permit Issuing Charters to Institutions In Small Towns.

To meet the situation at Crab Orchard and other small villages which have been left without banking facilities through the failure of institutions which formerly served them, a bill will be introduced in the legislature by Representative L. D. Spence of that place authorizing the state commerce department to issue new charters in such places to banks having $15,000 capital.

Under the present law no charter can be granted on a less capitalization than $25,000. This provision, declares Mr Spence, has worked a great hardship in his town and its surrounding territory. Up to a few years ago there were two banks at Crab Orchard. When the first one failed, its assets were purchased and taken over by the other bank. Later, the second one became insolvent and was closed, about two years ago. Since then the community has had no bank and its people have to transact their business through institutions in neighboring towns.

Spence's bill will draw the line at villages having fewer than 350 inhabitants. The $25,000 minimum capital provision will apply everywhere else, but in the smaller towns $15 000 will be sufficient, according to its terms.

Sixteen Crab Orchard citizens have taken over the building and fixtures of the suspended bank which was operated by C. L. Rothell prior to his demise, and they are ready to help finance a new bank. Local people, Spence says, will furnish half of $15,000 new capital and they will try to get an experienced banker to come in from outside, take the other half, and manage the institution if a charter can be obtained.

The contemplated new enactment would not make it mandatory on the state to issue a charter in every town under 350 population, but the head of the state banking department would merely be empowered to do so on the smaller amount of capital.

Jones Bill Passes

WASHINGTON, Jan 10—(AP)—The Jones bill authorizing annual federal appropriation of $1,000,000 to be spent along with equal amounts from states for "promotion of the health and welfare of mothers and infants," was passed today by the senate.

The bill, passed by 56 to 10, now goes to the house.

COUPLE ROBBED WHILE ON ROAD

Highway Thug Surprises Lincoln Man Working On Stalled Car.

The lone gunman, who held up and robbed Mr and Mrs. Earl Hockling, 1326 G street, near the Yankee Hill cemetery southwest of Lincoln shortly after 6:30 Friday evening was still at large Saturday morning. The bandit got $24.

The man surprised Hockling while he was working on the engine of his car, he told police. The bandit covered Hockling with a revolver while he relieved him of his money. The robber paid no attention to Mrs Hockling.

Hockling caught sight of the bandit's automobile parked a short distance away but due to the darkness, was unable to describe it. He gave police a description of the holdup, however.

Propose Through Line.

Establishing a through town bus line running from the agricultural college through the business district out South Thirteenth street to Fourteenth and Harrison streets where line divides. One branch goes to Twenty-second and Smith, other to Fourteenth and Arapahoe.

Addition of a bus line running from state penitentiary to state hopital, permitting transfer to through town bus line on Fourteenth street and rail line terminus on Tenth street.

Abandonment of South Eighteenth street rail line and substitution of bus line running from Burlington depot past hotels and capitol and extending service from Twenty-seventh and D streets to Thirty-seventh and D, thence south to A, west to Thirty-third, north to D and return. HOLDUP GIVEN TERM 8 YEARS

Ex-Convict Sentenced for Robbing of Lincoln Service Station.

Police Trap Bandit in Rooming House Soon After Stickup.

Prison doors opened Saturday for the third time in the past ten years on Harley Weyer, 26, alias Jesse Doyle. Eight years in the state penitentiary are ahead of him this time, imposed by District Judge Frost after Weyer pleaded guilty to robbery of $13.30 from Edward F Shook, an attendant at the Checkerboard Service station, Forty-eighth and O streets Friday night. The bandit was captured after a struggle with police three hours after the robbery. Most of the loot was recovered.

Weyer showed little concern over the sentence. He informed the court that he has served in the Kansas state reformatory twice since 1921, first for auto theft and on the second occasion for forgery.

The defendant declared that he has no near relatives except one brother whose whereabouts he does not know. He has recently been shucking corn in Lexington, he said. He admitted stealing the car there in which he came to Lincoln. The robbery was committed shortly after 8 o'clock within an hour of the time he reached here. Police had been informed of the theft of the car from Mrs. Ella Wisner at Lexington and were on the lookout for it.

Weyer picked a bad night for his activities. In a determined effort to check the recent wave of holdups, Captain Olson augmented his night force by calling into service all of the day motorcycle squad detectives, one day patrolman and the police secretary. Twelve police cars and motorcycles, each carrying two men, patroled the city from 6 o'clock until midnight.

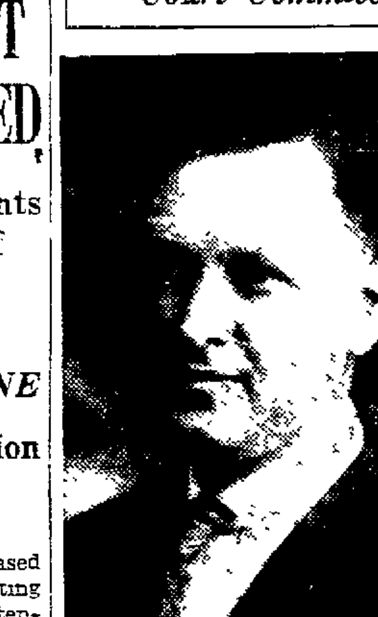

Spot Stolen Car.

Notified of the license number of the bandit's automobile, police began a hunt which was rewarded when Patrolman Krumtum, a new man on the force spotted the stolen machine near Ninth and P streets. Lieutenant of Detectives Towle saw a man answering the description of the bandit walking west on P street and trailed him to his room near where the stolen car was parked.

Weyer was standing by a bureau counting his money when Captain Olson and Lieutenant Towle walked in on him. While the lieutenant covered the suspect Captain Olson advanced and after informing

TRADEWIND HOPS OFF AT BERMUDA FOR THE AZORES

Mrs. Hart and MacLaren On Second Lap of Flight to Paris.

GOOD WEATHER IS REPORTED FOR TRIP

Journey of 2,000 Miles to Island Group is Longest Scheduled.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 10—(AP)—The monoplane Tradewind hopped off for the Azores at 12 15 p m., (11:15 a. m., E S. T.) on the second lap of a pay load flight from New York to Paris.

Local weather conditions were favorable as Mrs. Beryl Hart and Lieut. William S. MacLaren started their 2,000-mile all-water hop across the Atlantic.

Mrs. Beryl Hart, 27-year-old widow, and Lieut. William S. MacLaren, naval reserve officer, planned their pay load flight to Paris last fall with the idea of demonstrating that ocean flying could be "taken out of the stunt class and put on a sound commercial basis."

Hopped from Hampton Roads.

They made the jump to Hamilton from Hampton Roads, Va., in 6 hours and 55 minutes in their second attempt.

The hop to the Azores, 2 042 miles, is the longest one scheduled. From there the aviators plan a direct flight to Paris, 1,520 miles.

The plane is a white Ballanca monoplane, fitted with pontoons. It has a 300-horse power Whirlwind engine and a gasoline capacity of 400 gallons. It has no radio.

Lieutenant MacLaren said he hoped to reach Horta in about twenty-one hours. This would bring them to the Azores at about 8:15 a. m., Sunday, eastern standard time.

BRYAN APPROVES NAMING BABCOCK

Confirms Appointment Of Lincoln Man As State Accountant.

Commissions Battan and Clark as Deputy State Sheriffs.

E. C Babcock of Lincoln became the new state accountant of Nebraska, in the office of State Auditor G. W. Marsh, following the confirmation of his appointment Saturday morning by Governor Bryan. Mr. Babcock entered upon his duties immediately, relieving C. A. Sommer, who had been holding over as state accountant pending action by the governor.

"I have known Mr. Babcock personally for twenty years and his appointment is satisfactory to me." Governor Bryan informed newspaper men, after he had called the new accountant into his office for a short interview.

The governor did not exact any pledge from Babcock regarding the manner in which the latter's work is to be performed, but said he simply wished to make sure it was the same Babcock with whom he was acquainted. The appointment runs for two years, starting January 8.

Approval was given by Bryan to the accountant's surety bond for $10,000, and also to bonds in like amount each for Frank B. Honza and Thomas R. Riley, appointed by Auditor Marsh as county treasury examiners. The governor's O. K. is required on official bonds though he has nothing to say about the appointment of the examiners.

Auditor Marsh, in the event the governor had declined to approve Babcock's selection would have continued Sommer in the state accountant's position, without the formality of making another appointment and asking Bryan to confirm it. The law fixes no definite term for the accountant.

The legislature will be asked by Marsh to repeal the clause in the statute requiring the governor to ratify the auditor's choice of an accountant. Since the accountant official works entirely under the auditor's direction, Marsh thinks the latter should not be hampered in any way in making the appointment.

Commissions Deputy Sheriffs.

Governor Bryan informed newspaper men that he had signed commissions for [illegible] Battan of Lincoln and Elmer E. Clark of Bridgeport as deputy state sheriffs to succeed themselves. New bonds are being furnished by both men to take the place of those which expired on Thursday. Additional deputies will be appointed soon.

Mr. Clark was originally designated as a deputy state sheriff at Bridgeport during Governor Bryan's first administration, at the request of the state live stock association, which paid his salary at that time for rounding up and prosecuting cattle thieves and rustlers.

Rescue crews boring through the debris were impeded by new cave-ins as they retimbered the tunnel. Rescue operations began immediately after the first cave-in, which occurred early last night.

The slide, 400 feet from the east entrance, occurred near the spot where twelve men were killed by an explosion of methane gas in the tunnel last July.

50 Feet Below Surface.

The stretch where the men were working 750 feet below the surface is known as the most dangerous section of the tunnel through the coast range, east of San Francisco.

The night shift was replacing weakened timbers to prevent a cave-in on a short stretch between concrete walled sections of the tunnel when cracking timbers and falling rock warned them of the danger. The workers dropped their tools and fled. Several got out before the slide came.

Daring Act Saves Men.

The lives of those who were trapped probably were saved by the presence of mind and daring of Welby Morgan 28, one of those who escaped. With the first warning of falling rock, he seized a twenty-foot length of four-inch iron pipe and dropped it in what he thought would be the center of the cave-in. His guess was right, the pipe extending entirely through the sixteen feet of debris and furnished air to his entrapped fellows.

The workmen had scarcely broken for freedom when the roof caved in, hitting several with flying rocks and knocking others down with the rush of air. However, none was reported seriously injured.

Reach Halfway Mark.

Livermore headquarters of the Hetch Hetchy project announced shortly before daylight that workers had reached the halfway mark in the rescue operations.

Officials said the rescue could not be effected before midday at the earliest. The trapped men were reported "all well" and receiving plenty of air.

Extend Ban 2 Years On Prairie Chicken

State Representative C. S. Reece of Cherry county will propose an amendment to the present fish and game laws of Nebraska continuing the prohibition against killing prairie chicken through 1932 and 1933. The act passed two years ago closed the season on these birds every alternate year, but Reece says this is not enough to preserve them. He believes that another two years' protection will give them a chance to increase by propagation so that limited hunting can again be allowed.

STATE WILL SUE BANKS FOR LEVY

Sorensen Declares Court Action To Be Brought If Refuse Payment.

All state banks which have refused to pay their 1931 special assessments under the provisions of the act passed by the special session of the legislature last year for the depositors' final settlement fund will be sued in the respective district courts of the state if they persist in their action, Attorney General C. A. Sorensen announced Saturday.

The attorney general is awaiting word from Secretary of Trade and Commerce C. G. Bliss as to the banks which had refused payment. As soon as the list is complete, he will notify the banks that in his opinion there is no question about the law and ask them to remit at once.

As soon as refusal is reported the attorney general will file suits to collect the assessment, he said Saturday.

Secretary Bliss notified 532 state banks of the assessment. Five hundred have already notified him of their refusal to pay. A few however are paying with a number yet to be heard from.

As Rogers Sees It

BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 10—Don't get a farmer who is hollering for food mixed up with a red who is hollering for devilment. This morning's paper had some pretty bright news in it. It wasn't anybody's "prediction." It was that over 100 thousand men had just been put to work. That's not five million, but it's a start. An awful lot of new governors going to be sworn in this week and next. Now if we can just keep 'em from wanting to go to the senate they are liable to make good men.

PROPOSES $15,000 AS BANK CAPITAL

Spence Introducing Bill to Permit Issuing Charters to Institutions In Small Towns.

To meet the situation at Crab Orchard and other small villages which have been left without banking facilities through the failure of institutions which formerly served them, a bill will be introduced in the legislature by Representative L. D. Spence of that place authorizing the state commerce department to issue new charters in such places to banks having $15,000 capital.

Under the present law no charter can be granted on a less capitalization than $25,000. This provision, declares Mr. Spence, has worked a great hardship in his town and its surrounding territory. Up to a few years ago there were two banks at Crab Orchard. When the first one failed, its assets were purchased and taken over by the other bank. Later, the second one became insolvent and was closed, about two years ago. Since then the community has had no bank and its people have to transact their business through institutions in neighboring towns.

Spence's bill will draw the line at villages having fewer than 350 inhabitants. The $25,000 minimum capital provision will apply everywhere else, but in the smaller towns $15,000 will be sufficient, according to its terms.

Sixteen Crab Orchard citizens have taken over the building and fixtures of the suspended bank which was operated by C. L. Rothell prior to his demise, and they are ready to help finance a new bank. Local people, Spence says, will furnish half of $15,000 new capital, and they will try to get an experienced banker to come in from outside, take the other half, and manage the institution if a charter can be obtained.

The contemplated new enactment would not make it mandatory on the state to issue a charter in every town under 350 population, but the head of the state banking department would merely be empowered to do so on the smaller amount of capital.

COUPLE ROBBED WHILE ON ROAD

Highway Thug Surprises Lincoln Man Working On Stalled Car.

The lone gunman, who held up and robbed Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hockling, 1326 G street, near the Yankee Hill cemetery southwest of Lincoln shortly after 6:30 Friday evening, was still at large Saturday morning. The bandit got $24.

The man surprised Hockling while he was working on the engine of his car, he told police. The bandit covered Hockling with a revolver, while he relieved him of his money. The robber paid no attention to Mrs. Hockling.

Traction Company Wants Charge On Basis Of Length of Ride.

PLAN FIVE CENT BUSINESS ZONE

Rerouting and Extension Of Service Also Contemplated.

Asking a revision in fares, based on the length of ride and rerouting of several lines with some extensions of service, the Lincoln Traction Co. filed two applications affecting Lincoln's rail and bus service with the state railway commission Saturday morning.

The chief changes the traction company requests are:

Establishing of a 5 cent fare in the business area, extending roughly from the capitol to the state university and from the Burlington depot to Twentieth and O streets.

Establishment of a flat 10 cents fare for the remainder of the city now served on 10 cent or four for 30 cent fares. Retention of the 2 cent charge on crossing the outer fare zone now in force.

Propose Through Line.

Establishing a through town bus line running from the agricultural college through the business district out South Thirteenth street to Fourteenth and Harrison streets where line divides. One branch goes to Twenty-second and Smith; other to Fourteenth and Arapahoe.

Addition of a bus line running from state penitentiary to state hopital, permitting transfer to through town bus line on Fourteenth street and rail line terminus on Tenth street.

Abandonment of South Eighteenth street rail line and substitution of bus line running from Burlington depot past hotels and capitol and extending service from Twenty-seventh and D streets to Thirty-seventh and D, thence south to A, west to Thirty-third, north to D and return. HOLDUP GIVEN TERM 8 YEARS

Ex-Convict Sentenced for Robbing of Lincoln Service Station.

Police Trap Bandit in Rooming House Soon After Stickup.

Prison doors opened Saturday for the third time in the past ten years on Harley Weyer, 26, alias Jesse Doyle. Eight years in the state penitentiary are ahead of him this time, imposed by District Judge Frost after Weyer pleaded guilty to robbery of $13.30 from Edward F. Shook, an attendant at the Checkerboard Service station, Forty-eighth and O streets Friday night. The bandit was caputred after a struggle with police three hours after the robbery. Most of the loot was recovered.

Weyer showed little concern over the sentence. He informed the court that he has served in the Kansas state reformatory twice since 1921, first for auto theft and on the second occasion for forgery.

The defendant declared that he has no near relatives except one brother whose whereabouts he does not know. He has recently been shucking corn in Lexington, he said. He admitted stealing the car there in which he came to Lincoln. The robbery was committed shortly after 6 o'clock within an hour of the time he reached here. Police had been informed of the theft of the car from Mrs. Ella Wisner at Lexington and were on the lookout for it.

Weyer picked a bad night for his activities. In a determined effort to check the recent wave of holdups, Captain Olson augmented his night force by calling into service all of the day motorcycle squad, detectives, one day patrolman and the police secretary. Twelve police cars and motorcycles, each carrying two men, patroled the city from 6 o'clock until midnight.

Spot Stolen Car.

Notified of the license number of the bandit's automobile, police began a hunt which was rewarded, when Patrolman Krumtum, a new man on the force, spotted the stolen machine near Ninth and P streets. Lieutenant of Detectives Towle saw a man answering the description of the bandit walking west on P street, and trailed him to his room near where the stolen car was parked.

Weyer was standing by a bureau counting his money, when Captain Olson and Lieutenant Towle walked in on him. While the lieutenant covered the suspect, Captain Olson advanced, and after informing

TRADEWIND HOPS OFF AT BERMUDA FOR THE AZORES

Mrs. Hart and MacLaren On Second Lap of Flight to Paris.

GOOD WEATHER IS REPORTED FOR TRIP

Journey of 2,000 Miles to Island Group is Longest Scheduled.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 10—(AP)—The monoplane Tradewind hopped off for the Azores at 12:15 p. m., (11:15 . m., E. S. T.) on the second lap of a pay load flight from New York to Paris.

Local weather conditions were favorable as Mrs. Beryl Hart and Lieut. William S. MacLaren started their 2,000-mile all-water hop across the Atlantic.

Mrs. Beryl Hart, 27-year-old widow, and Lieut. William S. MacLaren, naval reserve officer, planned their pay load flight to Paris last fall with the idea of demonstrating that ocean flying could be "taken out of the stunt class and put on a sound commercial basis."

Hopped from Hampton Roads.

They made the jump to Hamilton from Hampton Roads, Va., in 6 hours and 55 minutes in their second attempt.

The hop to the Azores, 2,042 miles, is the longest one scheduled. From there the aviators plan a direct flight to Paris, 1,520 miles.

The plane is a white Ballanca monoplane, fitted with pontoons. It has a 300-horse power Whirlwind engine and a gasoline capacity of 400 gallons. It has no radio.

Lieutenant MacLaren said he hoped to reach Horta in about twenty-one hours. This would bring them to the Azores at about 8:15 a. m., Sunday, eastern standard time.

BRYAN APPROVES NAMING BABCOCK

Confirms Appointment Of Lincoln Man As State Accountant.

Commissions Battan and Clark as Deputy State Sheriffs.

E. C. Babcock of Lincoln became the new state accountant of Nebraska in the office of State Auditor G. W. Marsh, following the confirmation of his appointment Saturday morning by Governor Bryan. Mr. Babcock entered upon his duties immediately, relieving C. A. Sommer, who had been holding over as state accountant pending action by the governor.

"I have known Mr. Babcock personally for twenty years and his appointment is satisfactory to me." Governor Bryan informed newspaper men, after he had called the new accountant into his office for a short interview.

The governor did not exact any pledge from Babcock regarding the manner in which the latter's work is to be performed, but said he simply wished to make sure it was the same Babcock with whom he was acquainted. The appointment runs for two years, starting January 8.

Approval was given by Bryan to the accountant's surety bond for $10,000, and also to bonds in like amount each for Frank B. Honza and Thomas R. Riley, appointed by Auditor Marsh has county treasury examiners. The governor's O. K. is required on official bonds though he has nothing to say about the appointment of the examiners.

Auditor Marsh, in the event the governor had declined to approve Babcock's selection would have continued Sommer in the state accountant's position, without the formality of making another appointment and asking Bryan to confirm it. The law fixes no definite term for the accountant.

The legislature will be asked by Marsh to repeal the clause in the statute requiring the governor to ratify the auditor's choice of an accountant. Since the accountant official works entirely under the auditor's direction, Marsh thinks the latter should not be hampered in any way in making the appointment.

Commissions Deputy Sheriffs.

Governor Bryan informed newspaper men that he had signed commissions for Eugene Batten of Lincoln and Emory E. Clark of Bridgeport as deputy state sheriffs to succeed themselves. New bonds are being furnished by both men to take the place of those which expired on Thursday. Additional deputies will be appointed soon.

Mr. Clark was originally designated as a deputy state sheriff at Bridgeport during Governor Bryan's first administration, on the request of the state live stock association, which paid his salary at that time for rounding up and prosecuting cattle thieves and rustlers.

Rescue crews boring through the debris were impeded by new cave-ins as they retimbered the tunnel. Rescue operations began immediately after the first cave-in, which occurred early last night.

The slide, 400 feet from the east entrance, occurred near the spot where twelve men were killed by an explosion of methane gas in the tunnel last July.

50 Feet Below Surface.

The stretch where the men were working ,750 feet below the surface, is known as the most dangerous section of the tunnel through the coast range, east of San Francisco.

The night shift was replacing weakened timbers to prevent a cave-in on a short stretch between concrete walled sections of the tunnel when cracking timbers and falling rock warned them of the danger. The workers dropped their tools and fled. Several got out before the slide came.

Daring Act Saves Men.

The lives of those who were trapped probably were saved by the presence of mind and daring of Welby Morgan, 28, one of those who escaped. With the first warning of falling rock, he seized a twenty-foot length of four-inch iron pipe and dropped it in what he thought would be the center of the cave-in. His guess was right, the pipe extending entirely through the sixteen feet of debris and furnished air to his entrapped fellows.

The workmen had scarcely broken for freedom when the roof caved in, hitting several with flying rocks and knocking others down with the rush of air. However, none was reported seriously injured.

Reach Halfway Mark.

Livermore headquarters of the Hetch Hetchy project announced shortly before daylight that workers had reached the halfway mark in the rescue operations.

Officials said the rescue could not be effected before midday at the earliest. The trapped men were reported "all well" and receiving plenty of air.

Extend Ban 2 Years On Prairie Chicken

State Representative C. S. Reece of Cherry county will propose an amendment to the present fish and game laws of Nebraska continuing the prohibition against killing prairie chicken through 1932 and 1933. The act passed two years ago closed the season on these birds every alternate year, but Reece says this is not enough to preserve them. He believes that another two years' protection will give them a chance to increase by propagation so that limited hunting can again be allowed.

STATE WILL SUE BANKS FOR LEVY

Sorensen Declares Court Action To Be Brought If Refuse Payment.

All state banks which have refused to pay their 1931 special assessments under the provisions of the act passed by the special session of the legislature last year for the depositors' final settlement fund will be sued in the respective district courts of the state if they persist in their action, Attorney General C A. Sorensen announced Saturday.

The attorney general is awaiting word from Secretary of Trade and Commerce C. G. Bliss as to the banks which had refused payment. As soon as the list is complete, he will notify the banks that in his opinion there is no question about the law and ask them to remit at once.

As soon as refusal is received the attorney general will file suits to collect the assessment, he said Saturday.

Secretary Bliss notified 582 state banks of the assessment. Five hundred have already notified him of their refusal to pay. A few, however, are paying with a number yet to be heard from.

As Rogers Sees It

BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 10—Don't get a farmer who is hollering for food mixed up with a red who is hollering for devilment. This morning's paper had some pretty bright news in it. It wasn't anybody's "prediction." It was that over 100 thousand men had just been put to work. That's not five million, but it's a start. An awful lot of new governors going to be sworn in this week and next. Now if we can just keep 'em from wanting to go to the senate they are liable to make good men.

Yours, WILL.

Mrs Nomer's aged parents were present, and told how they had sold their home in order to restore the postoffice loss Judge Munger explained that a fine would have to be equal to the embezzlement and, since in his opinion the debt would be a heavier burden than the jail sentence, he chose the latter. The Lairds started to return to this country last August when Mrs. Laird was stricken with a heart attack and the return was delayed The Argentine revolution occurred while Mrs Laird was in the hospital. In recent weeks, her condition had been more serious.

NEW FARES FOR LINCOLN STREET CARS PROPOSED

lication for the increases in fares pointed to decreasing revenue of the traction company, Lincoln's low fare rate as compared with other cities, and necessity of increases to keep the company on a safe financial policy.

Brooks Explains Request.

A statement analyzing the changes and their significance was also issued Saturday morning by F. H. Brooks, president of the Lincoln Traction Co. He said:

"For some time past we have realized the necessity of a revision of fare schedules and have recognized the need for changes and improvements in service. As the result of a careful study extending over a period of several months, we are now able to announce a plan of operation which we believe will meet with general approval We trust the proposed fares will also be approved and accepted in good grace as they are based on an equitable principle and are as low as it is possible to make them and at the same time permit the company to continue to provide a transportation system suitable and adequate for the needs of the city.

"The zone fare system is an attempt to regulate the cost in accordance with the length of the ride. This plan restores the nickel fare in the first or inner zone This zone comprises the business district and includes the principal hotels, theaters, Nebraska university, the state capitol, the county courthouse and all railroad stations

Single Fare Inadequate.

"It is obvious that no single rate of fare, without limitation as to time or distance can adequately or equitably meet the needs of a transportation company.

"The whole plan is a serious attempt on our part to meet a critical situation unselfishly and with the appreciation that a growing city such as Lincoln must necessarily require some form of mass transportation facilities. It is quite obvious under present conditions that this can only be accomplished through co-operation between the public and the company.

"Over three miles of extensions into new territory are provided for A total area of thirty-nine blocks heretofore without service will be brought within a reasonable walking distance of a bus line Through town service will be furnished by the new agricultural college and South Thirteenth street bus line This line is made up of the present agricultural college line, the South Fourteenth line and part of the Lancaster and state hospital lines and by running the line straight through on Thirteenth instead of around a loop, will eliminate 167,000 bus turns per year in the business district, thus relieving traffic congestion and permitting greater schedule speed.

Furnished New Service.

Hawkins Warns Gang Not to Start Out After Harkinson When Old Brass Horn Sounds Out

SECKATARY HAWKINS— Harkinson's Owl By ROBERT FRANC SCHULKERS

HERE IN LINCOLN

Roberts, undertaker Est. 1878.-Ad

Walt Ludwig says wear tailored clothes in '31—for good looks, economy and comfort. Special prices for January so order now.—Adv.

Will to Probate.—The will of Henry B. Brown, Lincoln undertaker, filed in County court for probate Saturday leaves his entire estate to his widow, A. Edith Brown. The value of the estate is not given.

Escapes Injury.—Walter Debus, 13, 1012 Claremont street, escaped unhurt, according to police, when he was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile driven by Mrs. H. L. Anderson, 35, R. R. No. 2, Lincoln, near Tenth and U treets at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Lake Being Reflooded — Park Commissioner Bair announced Saturday morning that, due to thin ice, skating at the Stewart tract will not be permitted until further notice. The lake is being reflooded, and the ice will cover thirty-seven acres when the next freeze comes.

Marti Inventory Filed.—An inventory of the estate of Samuel J. Marti filed in County court Saturday shows it is valued at $39,600. Of this amount $33,600 is in real estate, largely in Butler county and the remainder in Canada. Personal property is valued at $6,000, of which $5,000 consists of a promissory note.

Wilson Arraigned.—Ben Wilson, when he was arraigned before Municipal Judge Polk Saturday morning, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor, but entered a plea of not guilty to a second count charging him with illegal transportation of liquor. Judge Polk fined Wilson $100 on the possession charge, and set his trial on the second count for January 13. Bond was fixed at $500.

To Pay Compensation—Commissioner Schroeder filed a resolution Saturday morning to be acted upon by the council Monday, authorizing the payment of the compensation granted to August S. Sobott, injured employe of the water department. The compensation was recently upheld by the Supreme court, and a hearing asked by the city has been denied by the superior bench. Sobott is to get $1,536.13 in back compensation.

Dismisses Divorce—District Judge Chappell Saturday dismissed a divorce brought by Belle Gillespie. against Jayson E. Gillespie. They have become reconciled.

Salvation Army Reports—At the regular meeting of the Salvation Army directors held Friday evening at the Lindell hotel, reports were made to C. W. Taylor, chairman, that nearly $1,500 had been received by the Salvation Army Christmas charity drive. It was also stated that Lincoln firemen repaired over 3,000 toys for distribution during the holiday season. Approximately 375 baskets of food were delivered to needy families by the organization on Christmas day.

Answer Injunction Suit— An assertion that all bus lines using the depot at Thirteenth and M streets are connecting lines of the Interstate Transit company is made in an answer filed in District court Saturday by the Interstate people to the suit for injunction brought by the Commercial Building and Investment Co. The building company charged that the Interstate Transit Co. violated its lease by permitting the Burlington and other lines to use the building.

Demurrer Sustained.—A demurrer of Lancaster county to a suit for alleged damages to an automobile, brought by Grace F. Grosvenor, was sustained Saturday by County Judge Reid. The plaintiff asked $300, for damages she charged resulted from driving over an uneven piece of road between Waverly and Greenwood. Judge Reid held that Lancaster county is not liable for the alleged accident, admitted to have taken place in Cass county. He held that joint liability of counties on roads exists only on county lines and not where a road runs from one county to another.

Geological Fraternity Elects—At the regular meeting of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national professional geological fraternity, held at Morrill hall, Leon W. Ashton was re-elected president of the local chapter for the second semester. Other officers are: Oliver Sherer, vice president; C. B. Schultz, secretary-treasurer, and Dayton Vallicott, historian. A discussion relative to articles which members are preparing for the Delta issue of "Compass," publication of the national Sigma Gamma Epsilon order, was conducted at the meeting. Plans for the annual spring party and faculty dinner of the local group were also outlined. At the next regular meetin gof the club, Dr. C. G. Lowe of the university, will give an address, "The Origin of Scientific Nomenclature."

Damage Suit Filed— Warner M. Mason filed a suit on behalf of Mary Mason for $10,687 in District court Saturday against B. L. Gray, Robert Yost and the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power Co. It is contended that Gray and Yost, while in the employ of the power company, negligently caused a collision between their automobile and one in which the Mason girl was riding. The alleged accident took place five miles east of Seward on June 14, 1930.

To Attend Murder Trial—W. G. Trump, 1001 South Twenty-sixth street, will leave Sunday evening for Los Angeles to attend the trial of Wilbur Mossberg and Jacques Samaniego, charged with first degree murder of Mr. Trump's son, Ralph O. Trump in October, 1928. The trial begins at Los Angeles on January 19. Mr. Trump will stay with three other sons in California while attending the trial. Ralph Trump was killed by holdup men who accosted him while he was seated in his automobile.

Given Jail Term. — Gertrude Nomer, former postmistress at Grainton, pleaded guilty to embezzlement of $3,073.18 of postal funds in Federal court here Saturday morning. After listening to a story of illness and business difficulties caused by a bank failure in Grainton, Judge T. C. Munger gave the minimum sentence of thirty days in the Grand Island jail. He declared it was absolutely necessary that he fix a punishment, lest clemency might lead to expectation of similar mercy in future cases. Mrs. Nomer's aged parents were present, and told how they had sold their home in order to restore the postoffice loss. Judge Munger explained that a fine would have to be equal to the embezzlement and, since in his opinion the debt would be a heavier burden than the jail sentence, he chose the latter. Mrs. Nomer was given permission to start her service at any date within the next thirty days.

About People

Nearly sixty members and guests attended the annual banquet of the Palladian Literary society of the Nebraska university, held Friday evening at the Cornhusker hotel. Dr. Frederick A. ANNA LAIRD DIES IN BUENOS AIRES

Was Resident Here For Nearly 30 Years; Had Planned Return.

Word of the death of Mrs. Anna Laird, 52, former Lincoln resident, in Buenos Aires, Argentina, Friday was received in Lincoln by cablegram within a few hours after the death by her sister, Mrs. C. E. Prevey, 1320 L street.

Mrs. Laird and her husband, Fred, lived in Lincoln for nearly 30 years. They moved to Buenos Aires three years ago when Mr. Laird was sent there by the International Harvester Co. by which he was employed.

The Lairds started to return to this country last August when Mrs. Laird was stricken with a heart attack and the return was delayed. The Argentine revolution occurred while Mrs. Laird was in the hospital. In recent weeks, her condition had been more serious.

The cablegram which informed Mrs. Prevey of her sister's death was dated 2:57 p. m., January 9 and was received here at 2 p. m., that day.

Mrs. Laird was a member of the Eastern Star, the Lincoln Woman's club and St. Mark's Reformed church.

She is survived by her husband and an adopted daughter Ruth, by three sisters, Mrs. C. E. Prevey and Mrs. F. H. Oncken of Lincoln and Mrs. Hobart Russell of Los Angeles, Cal., and by a niece, Mrs. Howard Schoenthal of Lincoln.

THREE LINCOLN PEOPLE INJURED

Three Lincoln persons were injured, none seriously, it is believed, when the automobile in which they were returning from Manhattan, Kas., skidded in loose gravel, and overturned a short distance north of Cortland on the Cornhusker highway early Friday evening.

Mrs. Vaughn Noland, 1728 G street, and Mrs. Charles W. Branch, 1718 G street, are in a Lincoln hospital. Mrs. Noland's injuries consist of a broken rib, a head injury, and head and face lacerations. Mrs. Branch sustained a broken left shoulder, and numerous contusions about her body, according to Dr. A. I. McKinnon. They were reported improved by attendants Saturday morning.

Smith C. Wilson, in whose car the three were riding ,suffered severe bruises about his head and legs. He did not remain in the hospital.

H. L. Babcock, 538 South Thirteenth street, brought the injured to Lincoln.

lication for the increases in fares pointed to decreasing revenue of the traction company, Lincoln's low fare rate as compared with other cities, and necessity of increases to keep the company on a safe financial policy.

Brooks Explains Request.

A statement analyzing the changes and their significance was also issued Saturday morning by F. H. Brooks, president of the Lincoln Traction Co. He said:

"For some time past we have realized the necessity of a revision of fare schedules and have recognized the need for changes and improvements in service. As the result of a careful study extending over a period of several months, we are now able to announce a plan of operation which we believe will meet with general approval. We trust the proposed fares will also be approved and accepted in good grace as they are based on an equitable principle and are as low as it is possible to make them and at the same time permit the company to continue to provide a transportation system suitable and adequate for the needs of the city.

"The zone fare system is an attempt to regulate the cost in accordance with the length of the ride. This plan restores the nickel fare in the first or inner zone. This zone comprises the business district and includes the principal hotels, theaters, Nebraska university, the state capitol, the county courthouse and all railroad stations.

Single Fare Inadequate.

"It is obvious that no single rate of fare, without limitation as to time or distance can adequately or equitably meet the needs of a transportation company.

"The whole plan is a serious attempt on our part to meet a critical situation unselfishly and with the appreciation that a growing city such as Lincoln must necessarily require some form of mass transportation facilities. It is quite obvious under present conditions that this can only be accomplished through co-operation between the public and the company.

"Over three miles of extensions into new territory are provided for. A total area of thirty-nine blocks heretofore without service will be brought within a reasonable walking distance of a bus line. Through town service will be furnished by the new agricultural college and South Thirteenth street bus line. This line is made up of the present agricultural college line, the South Fourteenth line and part of the Lancaster and state hospital lines, and by running the line straight through on Thirteenth instead of around a loop, will eliminate 167,000 bus turns per year in the business district, thus relieving traffic congestion and permitting greater schedule speed.

Furnished New Service.

"The new depot and South Thirty-seventh street bus line provides a direct line from the Burlington depot through the business district, passing the principal hotels, theaters, state capitol building, and extends one mile into a new and growing territory east and south of the present terminus of the South Eighteenth street line, and also furnishes service to the Lincoln high school.

"The Lancaster and state hospital line provides direct connection between the two state institutions with transfers to either the South Thirteenth or South Tenth lines and serves territory on South Tenth and South Eleventh now without either car or bus service.

"Re-routing of the Havelock and University Place lines will tap new territory and will furnish a more attractive ride than the present route.

"Eight new busses of the latest type have been ordered and additional bus equipment will be purchased if this plan is authorized.

"The changes planned will deprive no one of transportation service, who now receives service, and will provide more attractive and convenient service to the people as a whole."

Selecting the Checker Board, at 6 o'clock he bought some gasoline and alcohol, and producing a .410 gauge pistol, he looted the cash register. He drove back downtown and traded his gun at a pawn shop for the .32 caliber revolver police found on him, he said.

Weyer said he was born at Hoisington, Kas. At the age of 19, he was sentenced to the Kansas reformatory at Hutchison for car theft, and served 11 months. Later he was sentenced to 1 to 10 years for forgery while living at Stockton, Kas. Weyer said he was released in December, 1929, after serving five years of his sentence in the Kansas prison at Lansing.

Weyer's parents are dead, and he has no home, he said.

Denies New Trial.—Motion for a new trial of the Blochowitz estate case was overruled Saturday by District Judge Chappell. Supersedeas bond was fixed at $3,000. Judge Chappell recently held that deeds to 640 acres of land by Joseph Blochowitz, late Lancaster county pioneer, were obtained by undue influence and were never delivered. Three sons of Blochowitz were defendants in the case brought by a fourth son and two daughters. The plaintiffs were Albert Blochowitz, Lena Yankton and Anna Geistlinger. The defendants were Frank, George and John Blochowitz.

FUNERAL PARLORS TO BE MANAGED BY MRS. BROWN

Disposition of the Henry B. Brown funeral parlors will not be made for some time, according to Mrs. Brown. Due to numerous inquiries which have been made during the past few days, Mrs. Brown said that for the present the funeral parlors will be under her management with Aleck Welch as her assistant. Her decision was reached, Mrs. Brown said, when numerous friends and associates asked that she remain identified with the firm.

Mr. Brown, who died Sunday, January 4, had been actively engaged in the undertaking business in Lincoln since 1890, first with the Walton G. Roberts mortuary and then with Brown and Doyle. In 1907 Mr. Brown purchased his partner's interest and the firm was renamed Henry B. Brown's funeral parlors.

Aged Omaha Man Is Victim Of Blaze In His Home

ONE DEATH IN FIRE AT OMAHA

Man Loses Life and Two Children Overcome By Smoke.

Policeman Goes Through Flames to Rescue Small Boy.

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—One man was killed and two children were overcome by smoke in an early morning fire at the home of Mrs. Thelma Bullock here today.

Simon Bowser, 73, grandfather of Mrs. Bullock, died in an ambulance which was taking him to a hospital. He had been overcome by fumes.

Jean Bullock, 7, and her brother, Jack, 9, were the two overcome. Jack was revived quickly by an inhalator squad, but Jean was unconscious at a local hospital three hours after she had been taken from the burning home.

Charles J. Caldwell, a policeman on his way to work, and his son, Charles, jr., 19, rescued the boy from the flames, but were unable to find Jean and Bowser until firemen arrived.

Seeing Jack's face at an upstairs window, Caldwell rushed into the flames, made his way to the boy's bedroom, broke a window and handed him out to his son, who had climbed to a second story porch roof. He was unable to find the girl and Bowser because of the thick smoke.

Mrs. Bullock was not injured, but was hysterical. The house was badly damaged.

SOPHUS NEBLE WIDELY KNOWN

Omaha Editor Had Been Honored by King Of Denmark.

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—Stricken Friday at his home with a third heart attack since Christmas day, Sophus Neble, sr., editor and publisher of the Danish Pioneer, died within a few minutes. He is survived by his widow and four children, Sophus Neble, jr., Omaha Municipal court judge; Eyvind Neble Omaha; Mrs. Glenn Miller, Omaha, and Miss Beverely Neble, Omaha.

Mr. Neble was first stricken on Christmas day. On advice of his physicians he prepared to go to Florida for the winter. A second heart attack last Friday however, forced him to defer the trip.

Mr. Neblè, through his newspaper and his political activities as a member of the democratic party, was widely known throughout the United States and Denmark. At one time his paper, published here, was said to have the greatest circulation in Denmark of any paper —foreign or native.

He secured possession of the Danish Pioneer soon after coming to Omaha in 1883 when he and another employe purchased the journal. Under his guidance it rapidly climbed to a position of influence.

In 1925, Mr. Neble was honored by King Christian X, for his "constant and splendid work throughout a long period of years in the interests of Denmark." He twice served as democratic presidential elector and served one term as Douglas county commissioner.

Mr. Neble was born in Stubbekobing on December 15, 1856. His father was killed while serving in the war with Germany in 1864 and the family was left in want. At 14 he became a printer's apprentice and soon after mastering the trade moved to Copenhagen where for four years he was employed in a government printing office.

It was while he was thus employed that he first saw a copy of the Danish Pioneer, then published in Omaha by Mart Hansen. Impressed by the picture of American life as drawn in the paper he decided to come to America, which he did in 1883. In a few months he obtained a position on the Danish Pioneer, and several months later he and R. T. Fredericksen, another employe of the Pioneer, purchased it from Mr. Hansen.

POVERTY CAUSES OMAHA WOMAN TO SWALLOW POISON

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—Mrs. Luverne Palmer, 26, parachute jumper late yesterday ended her life by drinking poison. She died as she was being taken from her apartment to a hospital.

Mrs. Palmer ended her life because of despondency, her husband told police. He had been out of work for some time, he said, and they had little money for food. Yesterday, he said, they were ordered to vacate their home.

After drinking the poison, Mrs. Palmer walked from the bathroom to the living room to bid him goodbye, Palmer said.

HOAGLAND GETS LONG JAIL TERM

Ninety Days for Driving Car While Intoxicated; Appeals.

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—William Hoagland, 24, son of a wealthy Omaha lumber dealer, was sentenced to ninety days in jail in Police court here today by Municipal Judge Lester Palmer on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. His driver's license was suspended for one year.

The sentence was immediately apealed by Hoagland's attorney after he had pleaded not guilty.

Hoagland was arrested early yesterday after two escapades which, police said, he climaxed by brandishing a revolver and threatening the crew of a street car after its members had requested him to remove his automobile from the tracks. The operator of a south side soft dring dispensary told police that Hoagland had "shot up" his place earlier in the morning.

Arrested twice previously on similar charges a year ago, Hoagland received a 15-day jail sentence, which was later shortened, and a stiff fine.

"I feel that I am doing my duty to the public by giving you ninety days in jail," Judge Palmer said in announcing sentence. "It would do no good to fine you. Your father is a millionaire and any fine I could levy wouldn't mean anything.

CUSTARD DESSERTS WILL BAKE BETTER IN SMALL DISHES

Coffee is Also Better When Roasted in Small Lots — Hills Bros.' Method

The smaller the dish, the more evenly and quickly the oven heat can penetrate to the center of the custard. Such results cannot be counted upon when large baking dishes are used.

Applying this principle to roasting their fine blend of coffee, Hills Bros. found the way to develop uniform flavor in every ounce. A constant stream of green coffee is introduced into the roaster in automatically measured lots of about three pounds, and passes through in a steady flow, roasting a little at a time. There is accurate control of both the flow of coffee and the temperature.

This process, patented by Hills Bros.—Controlled Roasting—develops a delicious uniform flavor no other coffee has. The ordinary method—roasting in bulk—is virtually lacking in control.

Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee in the vacuum can that keeps it ever-fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed from this can and kept out. Coffee packed in ordinary cans, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

Big Country. Big Wonders
Meet Another Octopus
Real for Him. He's Dead
I'll Make You Love Me

Nature and providence made this country on a big scale. Some of the biggest things are still unknown to a majority of us. Pike's Peak, the Mississippi, Niagara Falls and the oil deposits we all know. But few know about the gigantic limestone caverns of Carlsbad in New Mexico. An invitation to see the caverns from President Paul Shoup of the Southern Pacific railroad gives this information:

"You can put the national capitol into the biggest cave, so far discovered, and then have a zeppelin sail over it without touching the roof."

Get your new car, drive out to see that cave, see other wonders in New Mexico and drive on to the Pacific coast and see the biggest thing of all, the Pacific ocean.

A new "octopus" is coming. Messrs. Eaton of the Republic Steel, Campbell of the Youngstown company, and Grace of Bethlehem Steel are in New York planning a two billion dollar steel merger.

Once upon a time that would have set all the muck rakers to raking violently. And the Supreme court would have said: "You must not do it; you are growing big."

But we have passed that stage, and have taken for our motto "The Bigger the Better."

Many that read this call the unemployment problem "a passing thing," not too serious. It was quite serious for Harry Drucker, Hungarian shoemaker, who came to this country after the world war, found a job repairing shoes, then opened a little store and married. Twins were born, everything was promising.

Now the twins are near death, in a hospital where the father, who attempted to kill them, is dying. The mother is dead, killed by her husband. Hard times closed the store, work could not be found. He, his wife and the twins starved more or less for seven months, now it is over.

No "theory" about that.

Russia is modern. Gigantic agricultural machinery "combines" such as few American farmers have ever seen, travel 50 or 100 miles in a straight line across immense wheat fields. What the Russians do, is done on a gigantic scale. Now they are spending $45,000,000 on a powerful broadcasting wireless plan. They will broadcast their theories on government, and the sins of "capitalism" and whether you like them or not, the theories will come rattling into your radio.

Making people listen, of course will be another thing. But some will listen, especially in these times.

The effort of Stalin to make you like his theories reminds you of Frederick the Great's father, chasing little boys into a corner, and beating them severely, saying "I'll make you love me."

Money is still lent in Wall street "on call" at 1 per cent. Two years ago nobody would have dreamed of such cheap money.

A few years hence many will wonder why they did not take advantage of it.

Otto H. Kahn, who really understands finance, said last Wednesday: "Two years from now looking back, you will not believe that it was really possible to buy the best securities at the ridiculous prices of today. Then it will be too late."

Once in London a man wagered that the public would not buy real gold sovereigns for sixpence each if they were offered at that price. He tried the experiment and the public refused to buy. America is doing that now.

There is a puzzle in Washington, entitled "to hear or not to hear the Wickersham report."

Congress would like to know what Mr. Wickersham and his friends have to say about prohibition after such long sitting. When a hen has been on her nest for 21 days you expect to hear a chicken peep.

On the other hand, the interests that are our real government, don't want an extra session of congress. In their opinion the safest congressman is one at home, far from Washington.

They fear the Wickersham report, for it may stir up questions that will force an extra session.

What would you do in that puzzling affair?

The price of bar silver drops again. Even the very "best" financial minds, that worshiped the gold standard, as fire worshipers did the sun, begin to admit that silver, pale financial moon, requires attention.

Destroying the value of silver has destroyed the buying power of 800,000,000 people, half the population of the globe, including all in China and India.

When you impoverish 800,000,000 of your customers, you do not help business.

Sixty thousand cattle are slowly crossing the Australian continent. Once in six years heavy rains fall in the interior. Water holes are filled, the ground is covered with grass, as is the Mojave desert in California, when rain falls there.

This is a rainy year and experienced white herdsmen, with aboriginal blacks as "fielders" are slowly driving the great herds south from northern Australia.

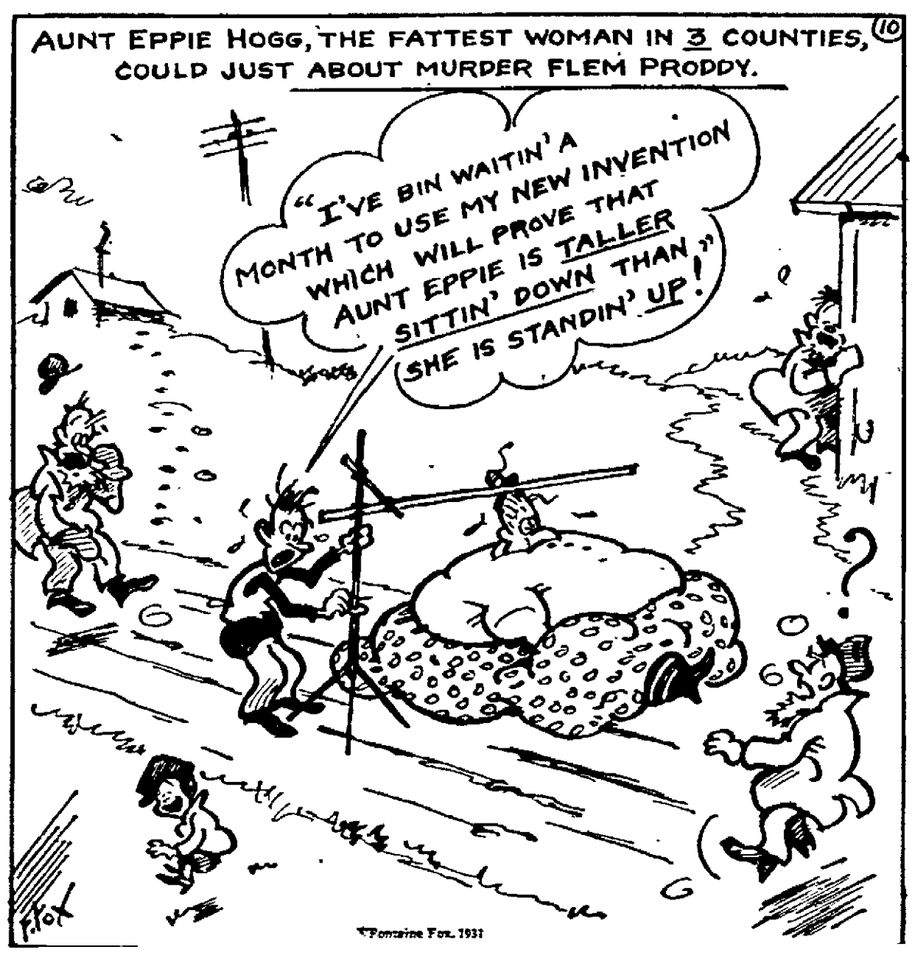

Such a trip usually takes about two years and the "trek" is more merciful than in the old Nomadic days.

Tartars drove their cattle from one pasture to another and on the way cut meat from living animals, ate what they wanted, and drove them on as long as they could go. There is improvement.

Aged Omaha Man Is Victim Of Blaze In His Home

ONE DEATH IN FIRE AT OMAHA

Man Loses Life and Two Children Overcome By Smoke.

Policeman Goes Through Flames to Rescue Small Boy.

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—One man was killed and two children were overcome by smoke in an early morning fire at the home of Mrs. Thelma Bullock here today.

Simon Bowser, 73, grandfather of Mrs. Bullock, died in an ambulance which was taking him to a hospital. He had been overcome by fumes.

Jean Bullock, 7, and her brother, Jack, 9, were the two overcome. Jack was revived quickly by an inhalator squad, but Jean was unconscious at a local hospital three hours after she had been taken from the burning home.

Charles J. Caldwell, a policeman on his way to work, and his son, Charles, jr., 19, rescued the boy from the flames, but were unable to find Jean and Bowser until firemen arrived.

Seeing Jack's face at an upstairs window, Caldwell rushed into the flames, made his way to the boy's bedroom, broke a window and handed him out to his son, who had climbed to a second story porch roof. He was unable to find the girl and Bowser because of the thick smoke.

Mrs. Bullock was not injured, but was hysterical. The house was badly damaged.

SOPHUS NEBLE WIDELY KNOWN

Omaha Editor Had Been Honored by King Of Denmark.

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—Stricken Friday at his home with a third heart attack since Christmas day, Sophus Neble, sr., editor and publisher of the Danish Pioneer, died within a few minutes. He is survived by his widow and four children, Sophus Neble, jr., Omaha Municipal court judge; Eyvind Neble Omaha; Mrs. Glenn Miller, Omaha, and Miss Beverely Neble, Omaha.

Mr. Neble was first stricken on Christmas day. On advice of his physicians he prepared to go to Florida for the winter. A second heart attack last Friday however, forced him to defer the trip.

Mr. Neble, through his newspaper and his political activities as a member of the democratic party, was widely known throughout the United States and Denmark. At one time his paper, published here, was said to have the greatest circulation in Denmark of any paper —foreign or native.

He secured possession of the Danish Pioneer soon after coming to Omaha in 1883 when he and another employe purchased the journal. Under his guidance it rapidly climbed to a position of influence.

In 1925, Mr. Neble was honored by King Christian X, for his "constant and splendid work throughout a long period of years in the interests of Denmark." He twice served as democratic presidential elector and served one term as Douglas county commissioner.

Mr. Neble was born in Stubbekobing on December 15, 1856. His father was killed while serving in the war with Germany in 1864 and the family was left in want. At 14 he became a printer's apprentice and soon after mastering the trade moved to Copenhagen where for four years he was employed in a government printing office.

It was while he was thus employed that he first saw a copy of the Danish Pioneer, then published in Omaha by Mart Hansen. Impressed by the picture of American life as drawn in the paper he decided to come to America, which he did in 1883. In a few months he obtained a position on the Danish Pioneer, and several months later he and R. T. Fredericksen, another employe of the Pioneer, purchased it from Mr. Hansen.

POVERTY CAUSES OMAHA WOMAN TO SWALLOW POISON

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—Mrs. Luverne Palmer, 26, parachute jumper late yesterday ended her life by drinking poison. She died as she was being taken from her apartment to a hospital.

Mrs. Palmer ended her life because of despondency, her husband told police. He had been out of work for some time, he said, and they had little money for food. Yesterday, he said, they were ordered to vacate their home.

After drinking the poison, Mrs. Palmer walked from the bathroom to the living room to bid him goodbye, Palmer said.

She took up parachute jumping in 1928 and made her first jump at Casey, Ia. She landed safely, despite a minor accident to the chute, but two day's later broke an ankle in a fall down stairs.

HOAGLAND GETS LONG JAIL TERM

Ninety Days for Driving Car While Intoxicated; Appeals.

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—William Hoagland, 24, son of a wealthy Omaha lumber dealer, was sentenced to ninety days in jail in Police court here today by Municipal Judge Lester Palmer on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. His driver's license was suspended for one year.

The sentence was immediately apealed by Hoagland's attorney after he had pleaded not guilty.

Hoagland was arrested early yesterday after two escapades which, police said, he climaxed by brandishing a revolver and threatening the crew of a street car after its members had requested him to remove his automobile from the tracks. The operator of a south side soft dring dispensary told police that Hoagland had "shot up" his place earlier in the morning.

Arrested twice previously on similar charges a year ago, Hoagland received a 15-day jail sentence, which was later shortened, and a stiff fine.

"I feel that I am doing my duty to the public by giving you ninety days in jail," Judge Palmer said in announcing sentence. "It would do no good to fine you. Your father is a millionaire and any fine I could levy wouldn't mean anything.

CUSTARD DESSERTS WILL BAKE BETTER IN SMALL DISHES

Coffee is Also Better When Roasted in Small Lots — Hills Bros.' Method

The smaller the dish, the more evenly and quickly the oven heat can penetrate to the center of the custard. Such results cannot be counted upon when large baking dishes are used.

Applying this principle to roasting their fine blend of coffee, Hills Bros. found the way to develop uniform flavor in every ounce. A constant stream of green coffee is introduced into the roaster in automatically measured lots of about three pounds, and passes through in a steady flow, roasting a little at a time. There is accurate control of both the flow of coffee and the temperature.

This process, patented by Hills Bros.—Controlled Roasting—develops a delicious uniform flavor no other coffee has. The ordinary method—roasting in bulk—is virtually lacking in control.

Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee in the vacuum can that keeps it ever-fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed from this can and kept out. Coffee packed in ordinary cans, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

Big Country. Big Wonders
Meet Another Octopus
Real for Him. He's Dead
I'll Make You Love Me

Nature and providence made this country on a big scale. Some of the biggest things are still unknown to a majority of us. Pike's Peak, the Mississippi, Niagara Falls and the oil deposits we all know. But few know about the gigantic limestone caverns of Carlsbad in New Mexico. An invitation to see the caverns from President Paul Shoup of the Southern Pacific railroad gives this information:

"You can put the national capitol into the biggest cave, so far discovered, and then have a zeppelin sail over it without touching the roof."

Get your new car, drive out to see that cave, see other wonders in New Mexico and drive on to the Pacific coast and see the biggest thing of all, the Pacific ocean.

A new "octopus" is coming. Messrs. Eaton of the Republic Steel, Campbell of the Youngstown company, and Grace of Bethlehem Steel are in New York planning a two billion dollar steel merger.

Once upon a time that would have set all the muck rakers to raking violently. And the Supreme court would have said: "You must not do it; you are growing big."

But we have passed that stage, and have taken for our motto "The Bigger the Better."

Many that read this call the unemployment problem "a passing thing," not too serious. It was quite serious for Harry Drucker, Hungarian shoemaker, who came to this country after the world war, found a job repairing shoes, then opened a little store and married. Twins were born, everything was promising.

Now the twins are near death, in a hospital where the father, who attempted to kill them, is dying. The mother is dead, killed by her husband. Hard times closed the store, work could not be found. He, his wife and the twins starved more or less for seven months, now it is over.

No "theory" about that.

Russia is modern. Gigantic agricultural machinery "combines" such as few American farmers have ever seen, travel 50 or 100 miles in a straight line across immense wheat fields. What the Russians do, is done on a gigantic scale. Now they are spending $45,000,000 on a powerful broadcasting wireless plan. They will broadcast their theories on government, and the sins of "capitalism" and whether you like them or not, the theories will come rattling into your radio.

Making people listen, of course will be another thing. But some will listen, especially in these times.

The effort of Stalin to make you like his theories reminds you of Frederick the Great's father, chasing little boys into a corner, and beating them severely, saying "I'll make you love me."

Money is still lent in Wall street "on call" at 1 per cent. Two years ago nobody would have dreamed of such cheap money.

A few years hence many will wonder why they did not take advantage of it.

Otto H. Kahn, who really understands finance, said last Wednesday: "Two years from now looking back, you will not believe that it was really possible to buy the best securities at the ridiculous prices of today. Then it will be too late."

Once in London a man wagered that the public would not buy real gold sovereigns for sixpence each if they were offered at that price. He tried the experiment and the public refused to buy. America is doing that now.

There is a puzzle in Washington, entitled "to hear or not to hear the Wickersham report."

Congress would like to know what Mr. Wickersham and his friends have to say about prohibition after such long sitting. When a hen has been on her nest for 21 days you expect to hear a chicken peep.

On the other hand, the interests that are our real government, don't want an extra session of congress. In their opinion the safest congressman is one at home, far from Washington.

They fear the Wickersham report, for it may stir up questions that will force an extra session.

What would you do in that puzzling affair?

The price of bar silver drops again. Even the very "best" financial minds, that worshiped the gold standard, as fire worshipers did the sun, begin to admit that silver, pale financial moon, requires attention.

Destroying the value of silver has destroyed the buying power of 800,000,000 people, half the population of the globe, including all in China and India.

When you impoverish 800,000,000 of your customers, you do not help business.

Sixty thousand cattle are slowly crossing the Australian continent. Once in six years heavy rains fall in the interior. Water holes are filled, the ground is covered with grass, as is the Mojave desert in California, when rain falls there.

This is a rainy year and experienced white herdsmen, with aboriginal blacks as "fielders" are slowly driving the great herds south from northern Australia.

Such a trip usually takes about two years and the "trek" is more merciful than in the old Nomadic days.

Tartars drove their cattle from one pasture to another and on the way cut meat from living animals, ate what they wanted, and drove them on as long as they could go. There is improvement.

WORTH SAVING.

From Washington comes word the thirty years battle of the dairy industry to protect itself from the competition of the more cheaply manufactured butter substitutes has broken out again with renewed vigor.

Resumption of the conflict is the result of a ruling by the office of the commissioner of internal revenue permitting the manufacturers of substitutes to use palm oil, imparting to their products the natural color of real butter. Farm representatives claim that the effect of the bureau's ruling is to nullify all of the legislation enacted in recent years to protect the butter producer. Since the ruling, they say, the price of butterfat has been depressed 7 cents a pound, exacting a toll from the owner of every dairy herd in America.

The dairy farmer in the United States has suffered enough from the competition of the coconut cow. It was the increasing use of substitutes which as early as June of 1929 precipitated a crisis in the dairy industry, and brought a drop of 14 cents a pound in the price of butterfat. But late in the year the huge stocks held in warehouses had been reduced until butterfat prices began to pick up, offering encouragement and hope to the farmer. Now there has been a fresh slump due to the ruling which allows the manufacturers of substitutes to use palm oil, which imparts the color of real butter to the substitute. And through the use of palm oil, the manufacturer escapes paying a tax of 10 cents a pound on substitutes artificially colored, and instead is compelled to remit only a fourth of a cent a pound.

Dairying is the largest source of income of all farming activities. It is an industry which enriches the American farmer more than a billion dollars a year. More than that, it stabilizes his income and supplies him with cash throughout the twelve months of the year. It is worth protecting, and worth saving. Without the dairy income hundreds of thousands of farmers would have found it impossible to retain their homes and their farms.

In Nebraska, third in the nation in butter production, the products of the dairy add more wealth to the farm than all of the wheat and oats produced. Nebraska is the second largest wheat-producing state in the union. Only one grain crop—corn—adds more to farm wealth in Nebraska than dairying. Wisconsin and Minnesota are even more vitally concerned while Iowa is not far behind

During Mr. Hoover's special congressional session which was to be devoted to the farm problem, a bitter fight was made to place copra, the dried coconut from which coconut oil is made, on the dutiable list. That the effort ended in a failure reflects how strongly entrenched the manufacturers of substitutes are. At the time, though, it was claimed the tax of 10 cents a pound on artificially colored butter, would provide the necessary protection. A bureau ruling has cut the foundations from under the dairy industry. It violates the clear intent of congress, and is a breach of faith of the promise made in lieu of acceding to the demands of farm loaders that a tariff be placed upon copra. Now it is time something shall be done about it. There is apparently only one remedy and that is tariffs upon the vegetable oils imported in huge quantities from the South Sea Islands and from the Philippines duty free.

The country should realize one of the last remaining supports of agriculture is seriously menaced. The farmer depends upon his dairy herd more than he does upon his wheat field, his oat crop, or his corn production. His cream checks buy the food for him and his family, their clothing, and in innumerable instances aid in paying interest charges and taxes upon his land. Take a profitable dairy herd from him and he has nothing left.

Figures covering the last fiscal year indicate more than 500,000,000 pounds of vegetable oils were imported into the United States, the great bulk of which went into the manufacture of butter substitutes. There is a thriving coconut industry in Jamaica, in the Philippines, and in a score of South Sea Islands. The trees come to bearing quickly, are long lived, and grow with little or no effort in the tropical countries. The coolie labor which tends them, and prepares the copra works for a few cents a week. The land upon which the trees are grown is cheap. Slowly but surely the coconut cow is exterminating the noble animals which comprise the dairy herds of American farms.

The farmer will come to know more trying days unless this ruling is rescinded.

DOUBLE TAXATION.

Missouri is now getting its second dose of income tax medicine. A few years ago it adopted that form of taxation to "relieve" the people. The system has done that very thing—it has relieved them of a lot more money than they used to pay for the support of the state government. But it hasn't done away with the taxes on physical property. Farmers and home owners still pay regular annual levies on their houses, lands, household goods, livestock, and every kind of goods, just as they did before. And in addition the state soaks its citizens for an income tax.

In his message to the Missouri legislature the other day, Governor Caulfield proposed the doubling of the income tax so as to bring in $4,000,000 a year more to the treasury. His recommendation was based on the report of a "survey commission" which had suggested additional taxation amounting to $192,000,000 in the next ten years. That was going it a little too strong for the governor to approve in its entirety, but he did advise an increase in income tax rates to carry out part of the program.

And there you are. It is working exactly the same way in Missouri that it has in Wisconsin and other states. First, an income tax law is enacted on the pretense that it will be used to lower other taxes. Next, the politicians who control the legislature and the state government, finding there is more money to spend, proceed to devise new ways for getting rid of it. Interests outside the legislature exert increased pressure for appropriations.

Ultimately it transpires that expenditures of the state are vastly increased, and then it becomes necessary to provide still more money. So the politicians decree that income taxpayers shall contribute more. Meanwhile, those who own lands, buildings, cattle, mercantile stocks, factories, and other kinds of tangible property continue to pay as they did before. Nobody has gained anything except the politicians and their friends for whom good jobs have been provided at the public crib.

And who pays the income tax? Is it the business corporations operating industrial establishments, stores, hotels, theaters, gas and electric light companies, and other enterprises which sell their goods and service to the people? Is it the landlords who draw their living from property rentals?

Hardly. They may pay the tax in the first instance, but they turn right around and collect it back from their customers and tenants, in the form of higher prices and rents. So, the common man and woman, whether living in town or on the farm, has to bear the burden of the increased taxes.

Politicians holding state and county offices, it is to be remembered, pay no income tax to the federal government; and presumably they would be exempt also under a state law. Perhaps that is one of the main reasons why some of them are so keen for an income tax.

The governor of Nebraska gets a salary of $7,500 a year, plus a fine furnished house to live in rent free, and he doesn't have to whack up a cent of his pay to Uncle Sam. But a humble citizen, if unmarried, who draws as much as $1,500 in some private job must contribute a part of his pay to the federal treasury. Is that "equality before the law"?

There are some members of the Nebraska legislature so guileless as to think they may be doing the taxpayers a service by passing an income tax law. If the experience of other states means anything to them they will go slow on that project.

Senator Wheeler said Mr. Hoover's refusal to return power commission appointees to the senate for reconsideration of confirmation would indicate the president was under the domination of powerful interests. What Mr. Hoover said has not been recorded by the press.

Perhaps it was a genuine belief that 1931 meant improved conditions which cheered the tired business man and then again he may have had advance information on feminine spring styles.

Everyday Questions

Answered By

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

(Copyright 1930; New York Tribune)

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by The Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

QUESTION.

Lincoln, Neb.

What does it mean to have "the mind of Christ?" This phrase is frequently used by preachers, but I have never seen its definition in print.

ANSWER.

Its essential significance is that we have to realize in our own actual experience what Christ can do for all men because He has done it for us personally. We are apt to place the emphasis on what we can do for Him instead of what He can do for us. This blunder has made the living of the Christian life needlessly difficult for millions of honest and sincere people.

The prevailing view today is that we should help our fellow men in this world, and not be too much concerned about the next. Yet even a casual knowledge of the New Testament, which reveals "the mind of Christ," shows that while such humanitarian help is good in itself, it is not good enough. What is called practical Christianity must be rooted in changeless convictions about Christ if it is to endure.

Again, the life to come has a large place in His teaching and ministry. If we are to inherit their fuller values we must empty ourselves of all sufficiency, pride and arrogance. Did not He lay aside His divine prerogatives in order that He might succor us? Countless well disposed people move on their own center and that necessarily determines a circumscribed and limited area. But the Christian wholly devoted to Christ lives and moves and has his being in Him. Freedom from self-assertion, boasting, prejudice and every other limitation exists in us when we possess in this sense "the mind which was in Christ Jesus." Read the context of the passage in St. Paul's letter to the Philippians, 2:1-10, for light on your particular difficulty.

QUESTION.

Newark, N. J.

In your opinion can a fatalist consistently believe in the efficacy of prayer?

ANSWER.

Everything depends on the kind of fatalist in question. The term has numerous meanings. It can be used in the Oriental sense or submission to an unavoidable destiny, or in the sense of what is called naturalistic determination, or in the theological sense, as defined by orthodox Calvinism. It would seem that a perfectly consistent fatalist does not pray, since, if everything is predetermined, prayer makes no difference. On the other hand, he might pray because he believes he is fated to pray, and also that the answer is decreed in advance.

There is, however, a determinism which accepts a Personal God as the final reality and His will, as the fountain of all that is, in which case, whatever happens, happens according to His will. This determination does not deny man's freedom, but bases it on the Deity's nature and purpose.

In other words, man finds and expresses his highest freedom in the Divine ordination that man shall be free. The laws under which he lives, moves and has his being are God's laws.

Follow the line of thought thus suggested and you cannot but believe in the efficacy of prayer. It assumes God's existence, His sovereignty and His benevolence. It addresses Him as the Father of the human race. The assumption on which prayer rests breaks with the doleful idea of an "impersonal fate" and gives every one who makes it a hand in determining his or her own destiny. Experience enforces the wisdom and the benefit of this attitude toward prayer.

QUESTION.

Little Rock, Ark.

Is it not true that science wins out against you who preach religion because science deals in facts and you deal in theories?

ANSWER.

I should say that both science and religion alike have to deal in theories to account for the acknowledged facts of human experience. They differ in that science seeks to correlate and interpret the facts of the physical realm, whereas religion seeks to correlate and interpret the facts of the spiritual realm. The legitimate work of each is complementary to that of the other, and together they contribute to a unified knowledge of life as a whole.

May I also remind you that few changes in the intellectualism of our day are more impressive than the change in the attitude of many scientists toward religion. Formerly they were either distinctly agnostic or openly hostile to faith. The Darwinian giants Huxley, Tyndall and Clifford were popular exponents of agnosticism, and Herbert Spencer was their prophet. They declared the human quest for God a vain pursuit and rung down the curtain on it as a relic of erroneous imagination.

But their theories about religion have died of sheer exhaustion. So you are fishing behind the net. Professor Haldane, an eminent representative of modern science, recently told listening millions through the radio that the last word about life's mysteries does not lie with the biologist, the mathematician or the astronomer. Human personality still remains the supreme work of a creative personality. This is exactly what every intelligent clergyman believes, and his ministry is based on that belief.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

More White Coats

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

What's fair for one you will agree
As fair for others ought to be.
—Old Mother Nature.

It is funny how differently people look at this matter. Jumper the Hare wears a white coat in winter, and rejoices in it when there is snow on the ground. You see, it makes it very difficult for hungry enemies to see him. But if you should ask Jumper, I suspect he would say that it was most unfair that Whitey the Snowy Owl, who has a taste for Hare, should have a white coat, or that Shadow the Weasel should also be dressed in white in winter. On the other hand, I suspect that Whitey and Shadow would say the same thing in regard to Jumper. It makes a difference who wears the coat.

"If there are so many of the Lemming folk up there in the Far North, I don't see what you are down here for," said Jumper the Hare to Whitey the Snowy Owl.

"I told you once before that there are few left this winter," replied Whitey. "Some of those I did see before I left had white coats, and when you have to hunt people in white coats it is hard hunting, indeed. Besides, the Lemming folk keep pretty much under the snow through the winter, and when there are few of them some of us have slim pickings."

"So the Lemmings have white coats!" exclaimed Jumper.

"Not all of them, and those that do have them only in winter," explained Whitey. "You see, there is more than one kind of Lemming. The Brown Lemming is the one I see most often, partly because his coat is brown all winter, and partly because Brown Lemmings are much more numerous where I live. But I have seen one called the Banded Lemming, and he is the one who has a white coat in winter. These white coats certainly do make it very hard for some of us," complained Whitey.

"And very nice for some of the rest of us," declared Jumper. "If I didn't have a white coat I don't know what I should do after snow comes."

"How about it before snow comes?" inquired Whitey slyly.

"It is dreadful," declared Jumper frankly. "There I am, with a pure white coat and everything around me is brown or green. It sometimes seems as if I never can get out of sight. I never know greater relief than when it begins to snow. There is my small cousin, Peter Rabbit"—

"Where?" interrupted Whitey, turning his head this way and that, as only an Owl can.

"I came along the edge of the sea and there I found a fish now and then."

"I didn't mean that he is anywhere about here," explained Jumper. "You interrupted before I could finish. There is Peter, always having to hide in a hole or under a pile of brush or in a hollow log, and never daring to remain more than two jumps from shelter all winter long. I can't see what fun he gets out of winter. I should think all those Lemming folk would want white coats."

"Perhaps they do," replied Whitey. I don't know as to that. But I do know that one kind has white coats and one kind does not, and why this is I suppose only Old Mother Nature knows. But all this talk about the Lemming folk is constantly reminding me that it is a long time since I have had anything in my stomach. I don't suppose there is any fishing around here."

"Fishing at this time of year? Of coure, there isn't!" exclaimed Jumper scornfully. "Do you eat fish?"

"When I can get them," replied Whitey. "I didn't expect to find any here, with everything frozen, but on my way down from the Far North I came along the edge of the sea, and there I found a fish now and then. Fish are very good eating."

"For some folks, perhaps, but as for me, I fear I should starve if I were expected to eat fish. Why don't you go over to Farmer Brown's barn and look for Bats?"

"I believe I will," replied Whitey. "Thanks for the reminder."

WILD BEAUTY

by MATEEL HOWE FARNHAM

SYNOPSIS: David Frost's mother is furious when he marries Fanny Freiburg, whom she considers unworthy to join the proud Frost-Brownbeck clan. David gets a new job and takes Fanny to a home of their own in order to make life happier for her. But circumstances and his mother's influence eventually force him to return to his uncle's bank and bring his wife back to the ancestral home. There Fanny is made continuously unhappy by her mother-in-law. Then Juliette, a distant Frost relative married to an Italian prince, comes to visit them and takes Fanny to Washington to spend a month with her.

Chapter 16.

FANNY WINS WASHINGTON.

Fanny took to the luxury of Juliette's home like a cat to cream, but she never got over the thrill of having her bath drawn and scented, her breakfast brought to her bedside.

"Mr. Chamberlain told me last night that I was as ethereal as marsh-mist—he ought to see me now," grinned Fanny one morning as she was pouring thick, yellow cream on her oatmeal. "I suppose, darling Juliette, that it's a bit gross to enjoy food so much—but not at a party. One is supposed to have a good time at a party. And it's always a party to have breakfast in bed."

Their first days were spent in an orgy of shopping. David recently had made $1,000 on the stock exchange and given half of it to Fanny. Juliette sugested that she take charge of this—that she was a better barrainer than Fanny; but she no asked the price of anything, and bought, and bought until Fanny protested. Juliette laughed and went on buying.

Fanny knew David would not like her to accept clothes from his cousin; but what could she do? She couldn't hurt Juliette's feelings, and the things were so lovely, and anyway David didn't know what women's clothes cost.

On the third evening of her stay Juliette gave a dinner for forty, with others in to dance.

The afternoon was glorious, and Fanny itched to be out in the sunshine, but she was bidden to stay at home and rest. At 5 Alida, Juliette's maid, brought her tea by her sitting room fire and afterward brushed and brushed her hair until it shone in the firelight like strands of copper and gold. At 7 she drew Fanny's bath, scented it, helped her into wisps of undergarments, did her hair, fastened her gown. And at 8, as Fanny went down the stairs to join Juliette in the darwing room she caught sight of herself in a long gilt pier glass in the lower hall and knew for the first time that she was beautiful.

She was wearing a simply cut frock of cream colored satin and Juliette's pearls and quaint old paste buckles on her satin slippers. Alida had pulled her hair straight back and coiled it cunningly in a great burnished knot that seemed almost too heavy for her slender neck. Could this be herself?—this proud lovely girl with the starry eyes? She always had known that she was pretty, but not like this, not like the girl in the mirror.

If only David could see her now! But, oh, guilty second thought! Sweet and dear as David was to her when they were alone, when they went out together, especially when they were to meet strangers, he made her miserably self-conscious by keeping an anxious eye on her, so afraid he was that she might not do or say the right thing, make the right impression. She was happier tonight without David.

No debutante ever had such a rush as Fanny.

No popular debutante ever had such a rush as Fanny. It was not her beauty—many in Washington were more beautiful—but rather her joyous enthusiasm, her delicate personal perception, her radiant pleasure in all that was done for her that made her so quickly popular.

"I did not know that a beautiful woman could be so unspoiled," a white-haired old gentleman said to her.

"I shan't be unspoiled long if you pay me such pretty compliments," said Fanny shyly, looking up at him and then quickly dropping her eyes.

"Why do you give so much time to your elderly cavaliers?" asked Juliette.

"Oh, I don't know—perhaps because I was always hungering when I was little for my father to love me—and he didn't. Anyway, I like nice old gentlemen. They are so pleased, the sweet old dears, when they find I really do like them."

A major general, who certainly never thought of himself as elderly, taught her to ride. A bachelor ambassador gave a Venetian fete in her honor that was the high point of the season. A famous senator, who had lost his wife not too long before, gave her a breakfast, and hinted that if Fanny were free he might not be inconsolable; he could not think of her as married, he said. Others told her the same.

A good many men tried to make love to her; and Fanny scolded them, or laughed at them gently and once or twice was so genuinely distressed at a hint of real feeling that a certain very young under secretary was moved to tears of regret for his scarlet past; and a certain blase attache with tired, burnt-out eyes told her she would remain a white memory as long as he lived.

"I had almost forgotten" the man said, "that women, young women, could be simple and natural and sweet. You are so incredibly sweet, my white one. Will you do me one favor, one last favor?"

"Of course I will," said Fanny.

"Will you let me draw the curtain—no one will see us—and stand here with me in the dark, your hand in mine, and watch the moon rise? It will take only a few minutes—there is a light already on the edge of the world. It will mean nothing to you—a great deal to me."

Fanny nodded. He drew the curtains close, and for a little longer than five minutes they stood silently, hand in hand, watching a great lighted Chinese lantern climb inch by inch over a bend in the Potomac and turn the black waters to rippling silver.

"The path to the moon—see, my sweet, there is still a path to the moon." Then hand that held Fanny's tightened; and then he bent low and kissed her hand, drew the curtains and took her back to the supper room.

Monday a fortune is laid at Fanny's feet. Will it shake her loyalty to David?

PONTIUS PILATE.

Pontius Pilate, politician,
Was the slave of self-ambition.
He grew merrier or graver
As it brought him Roman favor.
Pontius Pilate stopped to measure
Wrong or right by Roman pleasure.
Doing good he thought a blunder,
If it brought on Roman thunder.
He'd cause any friend's removal
For his emperor's approval.

Pontius Pilate stood in terror
Of committing any error.
He was much too shrewd and clever
To do right for right's sake ever.
O'er decisions he'd sit blinking
Till he knew what Rome was thinking.
Ere he ruled in his dominion
He must first get Rome's opinion.
Poor old Pilate, terror-haunted,
Guessing just what Caesar wanted!

Many a man still spars and fences
And first counts the consequences
And considers—more's the pity—
How the voters in the city
Will by honor be affected.
Will the brave man be rejected?
Will the spoken truth defeat him?
How tomorrow will men greet him?
And, like poor old Pontius Pilate,
He does naught the mob won't smile at.

Grocery and Drug Store Burned During Friday Night.

(Special to The Star.)

TAMORA, Neb., Jan. 10—Fire late Friday night completely destroyed the grocery store of Arthur Bartles and the drug store of H. E. Seibert. The origin of the blaze, which was discovered shortly after midnight, has not been determined, but it is known to have started in the grocery.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO VINE CHURCH OVER BUDGET FOR 1931

At the annual business meeting of the Vine Congregational church Friday evening the board of trustees reported to the two hundred and sixty members present that the budget for 1931 had been subscribed with $70 in excess of the required amount, according to Rev. Ervine D. Ingles, pastor.

For his thirty-six years as a member of the board of trustees the group voted Prof. G. D. Swezey a life trusteeship in the church. W. T. Pace was presented with a Bible by the church for his service as superintendent of the Sunday school for twenty-one years, having missed only fourteen Sundays during this period.

The membership committee reported that sixty-one new members had been added to the roster of the church during 1930, and that the average morning attendance for 1930 was 226.

A musical program directed by J. L. Heilman, followed the remainder of the routine business.

SAYS ANDREW'S STORY UNTRUE

Father of Merle Sizer Says Investigation Already Made.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Jan. 10—(AP)—W. R. Sizer, father of Myrl Sizer, said when a press dispatch was read to him that he had had the story of Walter A. Andrew investigated at the time it was made public two years ago and found it to be groundless.

Sizer said he sent his son Harry to Wayne then and that he found the woman with Andrew at the time he stole an automobile in escaping after a jail break was Mrs. Andrew and that she drove the car to Kansas City.

The son reported that so far as he had been able to learn there had been neither murder nor suicide at or near Carroll, Neb., at the time the convict said Miss Sizer killed herself. Sizer expressed the conviction that Andrew told the story two years ago with the hope of being sent back to Nebraska that he might again escape.

Whether he believed his daughter was dead or alive, Sizer would not say, but it is the general opinion among peace officers here that she is alive, for some unknown reason keeping her whereabouts secret.

A short time after Miss Sizer disappeared, her father was informed she was in a hospital in Kansas City. Visiting the hospital, Sizer said he found no trace of his daughter, but that a Kansas City reporter who obtained a picture of the girl told him there was no doubt in his mind but that the patient he saw was Miss Sizer.

EINSTEIN'S HOME ROBBED.

KAPUTH, Germany, Jan. 10—(AP)—Burglars broke into the summer home of Prof. Albert Einstein some time during the night and when the caretaker entered the place this morning he found that it had been ransacked. The front door had been jimmied open, all the drawers in the great scientist's home had been turned inside down and thoroughly searched. The caretaker said that only Professor Einstein himself could tell whether anything had been stolen.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

SMOOTH, NON-IRRITATING DIET NECESSARY FOR PATIENTS WHO HAVE MUCOUS COLITIS.

Many people who believe their colons are sluggish, eat a great deal of roughage and are constantly bloated and uncomfortable and have a tight feeling in the abdomen. This is because they really have highly sensitive and irritable colons, and in order to be comfortable and have sufficient elimination, need an opposite type of diet.

Dr. Clendening

They are nearly always uncomfortable on a high residue diet, and although this gives them regular evacuations, it irritates the inside of the bowel so much that they always feel a sense of pressure or incomplete emptying. Often they take to cathartics to get rid of this full feeling, and the cathartics still further irritate an already sensitive mucous lining of the colon.

Such are the cases which have come lately to be called colitis. It is more a nerve irritability than an actual inflammation of the colon (as the word colitis would indicate). But some cases go on to an extremely severe functional condition—mucous colitis.

For these individuals the question of a daily evacuation is of secondary importance. They require to be made comfortable, and must have a "smooth" or non-residue diet. Such a diet, containing sufficient residue for such intestines is as follows:

Cereals: All kinds except bran foods. (Oatmeal should be cooked in a double boiler at least one hour.) May have cream and sugar.

Bread: Toast, crackers, stale bread, zwieback.

Eggs: Coddled, boiled, poached or scrambled over water—usually two a day.

Meats: Lean meat only. No pork or pickled meats. Meats should include beef (broiled steak, boiled or baked beef), stewed or baked chicken; broiled or baked fish; broiled or baked liver. May have two slices of crisp bacon a day.

Soups: Cream soups, strained vegetable or lean meat broth.

Fruits: Orange juice or grapefruit juice (with sugar if desired).

Dairy Products: Buttermilk, cottage cheese, butter.

Miscellaneous: Noodles, macaroni, spaghetti (no tomato sauce).

Desserts: Rice, gelatine (made with strained fruit juices if desired). May have fruit jellies, tapioca, rice, pudding (without raisins), vanilla ice cream, ices, sugar cookies, angel food cake, stick candy.

Avoid: Sweet milk, fats (except butter and cream), fried foods, pancakes, condiments, spiced foods, pickled meats, pork, syrups, jams, soda fountain drinks, iced drinks, cider, salads, vegetables, fruits (except as ordered), all pastries (except as ordered).

Editors note: Three pamphlets and three articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet," "Diet of the Expectant Mother" and "Tuberculosis."

WORTH SAVING.

From Washington comes word the thirty years battle of the dairy industry to protect itself from the competition of the more cheaply manufactured butter substitutes has broken out again with renewed vigor.

Resumption of the conflict is the result of a ruling by the office of the commissioner of internal revenue permitting the manufacturers of substitutes to use palm oil, imparting to their products the natural color of real butter. Farm representatives claim that the effect of the bureau's ruling is to nullify all of the legislation enacted in recent years to protect the butter producer. Since the ruling, they say, the price of butterfat has been depressed 7 cents a pound, exacting a toll from the owner of every dairy herd in America.

The dairy farmer in the United States has suffered enough from the competition of the coconut cow. It was the increasing use of substitutes which as early as June of 1929 precipitated a crisis in the dairy industry, and brought a drop of 14 cents a pound in the price of butterfat. But late in the year the huge stocks held in warehouses had been reduced until butterfat prices began to pick up, offering encouragement and hope to the farmer. Now there has been a fresh slump due to the ruling which allows the manufacturers of substitutes to use palm oil, which imparts the color of real butter to the substitute. And through the use of palm oil, the manufacturer escapes paying a tax of 10 cents a pound on substitutes artificially colored, and instead is compelled to remit only a fourth of a cent a pound.

Dairying is the largest source of income of all farming activities. It is an industry which enriches the American farmer more than a billion dollars a year. More than that, it stabilizes his income and supplies him with cash throughout the twelve months of the year. It is worth protecting, and worth saving. Without the dairy income hundreds of thousands of farmers would have found it impossible to retain their homes and their farms.

In Nebraska, third in the nation in butter production, the products of the dairy add more wealth to the farm than all of the wheat and oats produced. Nebraska is the second largest wheat-producing state in the union. Only one grain crop—corn—adds more to farm wealth in Nebraska than dairying. Wisconsin and Minnesota are even more vitally concerned while Iowa is not far behind

During Mr. Hoover's special congressional session which was to be devoted to the farm problem, a bitter fight was made to place copra, the dried coconut from which coconut oil is made, on the dutiable list. That the effort ended in a failure reflects how strongly entrenched the manufacturers of substitutes are. At the time, though, it was claimed the tax of 10 cents a pound on artificially colored butter, would provide the necessary protection. A bureau ruling has cut the foundations from under the dairy industry. It violates the clear intent of congress, and is a breach of faith of the promise made in lieu of acceding to the demands of farm loaders that a tariff be placed upon copra. Now it is time something shall be done about it. There is apparently only one remedy and that is tariffs upon the vegetable oils imported in huge quantities from the South Sea Islands and from the Philippines duty free.

The country should realize one of the last remaining supports of agriculture is seriously menaced. The farmer depends upon his dairy herd more than he does upon his wheat field, his oat crop, or his corn production. His cream checks buy the food for him and his family, their clothing, and in innumerable instances aid in paying interest charges and taxes upon his land. Take a profitable dairy herd from him and he has nothing left.

Figures covering the last fiscal year indicate more than 500,000,000 pounds of vegetable oils were imported into the United States, the great bulk of which went into the manufacture of butter substitutes. There is a thriving coconut industry in Jamaica, in the Philippines, and in a score of South Sea Islands. The trees come to bearing quickly, are long lived, and grow with little or no effort in the tropical countries. The coolie labor which tends them, and prepares the copra works for a few cents a week. The land upon which the trees are grown is cheap. Slowly but surely the coconut cow is exterminating the noble animals which comprise the dairy herds of American farms.

The farmer will come to know more trying days unless this ruling is rescinded.

DOUBLE TAXATION.

Missouri is now getting its second dose of income tax medicine. A few years ago it adopted that form of taxation to "relieve" the people. The system has done that very thing—it has relieved them of a lot more money than they used to pay for the support of the state government. But it hasn't done away with the taxes on physical property. Farmers and home owners still pay regular annual levies on their houses, lands, household goods, livestock, and every kind of goods, just as they did before. And in addition the state soaks its citizens for an income tax.

In his message to the Missouri legislature the other day, Governor Caulfield proposed the doubling of the income tax so as to bring in $4,000,000 a year more to the treasury. His recommendation was based on the report of a "survey commission" which had suggested additional taxation amounting to $192,000,000 in the next ten years. That was going it a little too strong for the governor to approve in its entirety, but he did advise an increase in income tax rates to carry out part of the program.

And there you are. It is working exactly the same way in Missouri that it has in Wisconsin and other states. First, an income tax law is enacted on the pretense that it will be used to lower other taxes. Next, the politicians who control the legislature and the state government, finding there is more money to spend, proceed to devise new ways for getting rid of it. Interests outside the legislature exert increased pressure for appropriations.

Ultimately it transpires that expenditures of the state are vastly increased, and then it becomes necessary to provide still more money. So the politicians decree that income taxpayers shall contribute more. Meanwhile, those who own lands, buildings, cattle, mercantile stocks, factories, and other kinds of tangible property continue to pay as they did before. Nobody has gained anything except the politicians and their friends for whom good jobs have been provided at the public crib.

And who pays the income tax? Is it the business corporations operating industrial establishments, stores, hotels, theaters, gas and electric light companies, and other enterprises which sell their goods and service to the people? Is it the landlords who draw their living from property rentals?

Hardly. They may pay the tax in the first instance, but they turn right around and collect it back from their customers and tenants, in the form of higher prices and rents. So, the common man and woman, whether living in town or on the farm, has to bear the burden of the increased taxes.

Politicians holding state and county offices, it is to be remembered, pay no income tax to the federal government, and presumably they would be exempt also under a state law. Perhaps that is one of the main reasons why some of them are so keen for an income tax.

The governor of Nebraska gets a salary of $7,500 a year, plus a fine furnished house to live in rent free, and he doesn't have to whack up a cent of his pay to Uncle Sam. But a humble citizen, if unmarried, who draws as much as $1,500 in some private job must contribute a part of his pay to the federal treasury. Is that "equality before the law"?

There are some members of the Nebraska legislature so guileless as to think they may be doing the taxpayers a service by passing an income tax law. If the experience of other states means anything to them they will go slow on that project.

Senator Wheeler said Mr. Hoover's refusal to return power commission appointees to the senate for reconsideration of confirmation would indicate the president was under the domination of powerful interests. What Mr. Hoover said has not been recorded by the press.

Perhaps it was a genuine belief that 1931 meant improved conditions which cheered the tired business man and then again he may have had advance information on feminine spring styles.

Everyday Questions

Answered By

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

(Copyright 1930, New York Tribune)

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by The Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

QUESTION.

Lincoln, Neb.

What does it mean to have "the mind of Christ?" This phrase is frequently used by preachers, but I have never seen its definition in print.

ANSWER.

Its essential significance is that we have to realize in our own actual experience what Christ can do for all men because He has done it for us personally. We are apt to place the emphasis on what we can do for Him instead of what He can do for us. This blunder has made the living of the Christian life needlessly difficult for millions of honest and sincere people.

The prevailing view today is that we should help our fellow men in this world, and not be too much concerned about the next. Yet even a casual knowledge of the New Testament, which reveals "the mind of Christ," shows that while such humanitarian help is good in itself, it is not good enough. What is called practical Christianity must be rooted in changeless convictions about Christ if it is to endure.

Again, the life to come has a large place in His teaching and ministry. If we are to inherit their fuller values we must empty ourselves of all sufficiency, pride and arrogance. Did not He lay aside His divine prerogatives in order that He might succor us? Countless well disposed people move on their own center and that necessarily determines a circumscribed and limited area. But the Christian wholly devoted to Christ lives and moves and has his being in Him. Freedom from self-assertion, boasting, prejudice and every other limitation exists in us when we possess in this sense "the mind which was in Christ Jesus." Read the context of the passage in St. Paul's letter to the Philippians, 2:1-10, for light on your particular difficulty.

QUESTION.

Newark, N. J.

In your opinion can a fatalist consistently believe in the efficacy of prayer?

ANSWER.

Everything depends on the kind of fatalist in question. The term has numerous meanings. It can be used in the Oriental sense or submission to an unavoidable destiny, or in the sense of what is called naturalistic determination, or in the theological sense, as defined by orthodox Calvinism. It would seem that a perfectly consistent fatalist does not pray, since, if everything is predetermined, prayer makes no difference. On the other hand, he might pray because he believes he is fated to pray, and also that the answer is decreed in advance.

There is, however, a determinism which accepts a Personal God as the final reality ,and His will, as the fountain of all that is, in which case, whatever happens, happens according to His will. This determination does not deny man's freedom, but bases it on the Deity's nature and purpose.

In other words, man finds and expresses his highest freedom in the Divine ordination that man shall be free. The laws under which he lives, moves and has his being are God's laws.

Follow the line of thought thus suggested and you cannot but believe in the efficacy of prayer. It assumes God's existence, His sovereignty and His benevolence. It addresses Him as the Father of the human race. The assumption on which prayer rests breaks with the doleful idea of an "impersonal fate" and gives every one who makes it a hand in determining his or her own destiny. Experience enforces the wisdom and the benefit of this attitude toward prayer.

QUESTION.

Little Rock, Ark.

Is it not true that science wins out against you who preach religion because science deals in facts and you deal in theories?

ANSWER.

I should say that both science and religion alike have to deal in theories to account for the acknowledged facts of human experience. They differ in that science seeks to correlate and interpret the facts of the physical realm, whereas religion seeks to correlate and interpret the facts of the spiritual realm. The legitimate work of each is complementary to that of the other, and together they contribute to a unified knowledge of life as a whole.

May I also remind you that few changes in the intellectualism of our day are more impressive than the change in the attitude of many scientists toward religion. Formerly they were either distinctly agnostic or openly hostile to faith. The Darwinian giants Huxley, Tyndall and Clifford were popular exponents of agnosticism, and Herbert Spencer was their prophet. They declared the human quest for God a vain pursuit ,and rung down the curtain on it as a relic of erroneous imagination.

But their theories about religion have died of sheer exhaustion. So you are fishing behind the net. Professor Haldane, an eminent representative of modern science, recently told listening millions through the radio that the last word about life's mysteries does not lie with the biologist, the mathematician or the astronomer. Human personality still remains the supreme work of a creative personality. This is exactly what every intelligent clergyman believes, and his ministry is based on that belief.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

More White Coats

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

What's fair for one you will agree
As fair for others ought to be.
—Old Mother Nature.

It is funny how differently people look at this matter. Jumper the Hare wears a white coat in winter, and rejoices in it when there is snow on the ground. You see, it makes it very difficult for hungry enemies to see him. But if you should ask Jumper, I suspect he would say that it was most unfair that Whitey the Snowy Owl, who has a taste for Hare, should have a white coat, or that Shadow the Weasel should also be dressed in white in winter. On the other hand, I suspect that Whitey and Shadow would say the same thing in regard to Jumper. It makes a difference who wears the coat.

"If there are so many of the Lemming folk up there in the Far North, I don't see what you are down here for," said Jumper the Hare to Whitey the Snowy Owl.

"I told you once before that there are few left this winter," replied Whitey. "Some of those I did see before I left had white coats, and when you have to hunt people in white coats it is hard hunting, indeed. Besides, the Lemming folk keep pretty much under the snow through the winter, and when there are few of them some of us have slim pickings."

"So the Lemmings have white coats!" exclaimed Jumper.

"Not all of them ,and those that do have them only in winter," explained Whitey. "You see ,there is more than one kind of Lemming. The Brown Lemming is the one I see most often, partly because his coat is brown all winter, and partly because Brown Lemmings are much more numerous where I live. But I have seen one called the Banded Lemming, and he is the one who has a white coat in winter. These white coats certainly do make it very hard for some of us," complained Whitey.

"And very nice for some of the rest of us," declared Jumper. "If I didn't have a white coat I don't know what I should do after snow comes."

"How about it before snow comes?" inquired Whitey slyly.

"It is dreadful," declared Jumper frankly. "There I am, with a pure white coat and everything around me is brown or green. It sometimes seems as if I never can get out of sight. I never know greater relief than when it begins to snow. There is my small cousin, Peter Rabbit"—

"Where?" interrupted Whitey, turning his head this way and that, as only an Owl can.

"I came along the edge of the sea and there I found a fish now and then."

"I didn't mean that he is anywhere about here," explained Jumper. "You interrupted before I could finish. There is Peter, always having to hide in a hole or under a pile of brush or in a hollow log, and never daring to remain more than two jumps from shelter all winter long. I can't see what fun he gets out of winter. I should think all those Lemming folk would want white coats."

"Perhaps they do," replied Whitey. I don't know as to that. But I do know that one kind has white coats and one kind does not, and why this is I suppose only Old Mother Nature knows. But all this talk about the Lemming folk is constantly reminding me that it is a long time since I have had anything in my stomach. I don't suppose there is any fishing around here."

"Fishing at this time of year? Of coure, there isn't!" exclaimed Jumper scornfully. "Do you eat fish?"

"When I can get them," replied Whittey. "I didn't expect to find any here, wtih everything frozen, but on my way down from the Far North I came along the edge of the sea, and there I found a fish now and then. Fish are very good eating."

"For some folks, perhaps, but as for me, I fear I should starve if I were expected to eat fish. Why don't you go over to Farmer Brown's barn and look for Bats?"

"I believe I will," replied Whitey. "Thanks for the reminder."

WILD BEAUTY

by MATEEL HOWE FARNHAM

SYNOPSIS: David Frost's mother is furious when he marries Fanny Freiburg, whom she considers unworthy to join the proud Frost-Brownbeck clan. David gets a new job and takes Fanny to a home of their own in order to make life happier for her. But circumstances and his mother's influence eventually force him to return to his uncle's bank and bring his wife back to the ancestral home. There Fanny is made continuously unhappy by her mother-in-law. Then Juliette, a distant Frost relative married to an Italian prince, comes to visit them and takes Fanny to Washington to spend a month with her.

Chapter 16.

FANNY WINS WASHINGTON.

Fanny took to the luxury of Juliette's home like a cat to cream, but she never got over the thrill of having her bath drawn and scented, her breakfast brought to her bedside.

"Mr. Chamberlain told me last night that I was as ethereal as marsh-mist—he ought to see me now," grinned Fanny one morning as she was pouring thick yellow cream on her oatmeal. "I suppose, darling Juliette, that it's a bit gross to enjoy food so much—but not at a party. One is supposed to have a good time at a party. And it's always a party to have breakfast in bed."

Their first days were spent in an orgy of shopping. David recently had made $1,000 on the stock exchange and given half of it to Fanny. Juliette sugested that she take charge of this—that she was a better bargainer than Fanny; but she never asked the price of anything, and bought, and bought until Fanny protested; Juliette laughed and went on buying.

Fanny knew David would not like her to accept clothes from his cousin; but what could she do? She couldn't hurt Juliette's feelings, and the things were so lovely, and anyway David didn't know what women's clothes cost.

On the third evening of her stay Juliette gave a dinner for forty, with others in to dance.

The afternoon was glorious, and Fanny itched to be out in the sunshine, but she was bidden to stay at home and rest. At 5 Alida, Juliette's maid, brought her tea by her sitting room fire and afterward brushed and brushed her hair until it shone in the firelight like strands of copper and gold. At 7 she drew Fanny's bath, scented it, helped her into wisps of undergarments, did her hair, fastened her gown. And at 8, as Fanny went down the stairs to join Juliette in the darwing room she caught sight of herself in a long gilt pier glass in the lower hall and knew for the first time that she was beautiful.

She was wearing a simply cut frock of cream colored satin and Juliette's pearls and quaint old paste buckles on her satin slippers. Alida had pulled her hair straight back and coiled it cunningly in a great burnished knot that seemed almost too heavy for her slender neck. Could this be herself?—this proud lovely girl with the starry eyes? She always had known that she was pretty, but not like this, not like the girl in the mirror.

No debutante ever had such a rush as Fanny.

If only David could see her now! But, oh, guilty second thought! Sweet and dear as David was to her when they were alone, when they went out together, especially when they were to meet strangers, he made her miserably self-conscious by keeping an anxious eye on her, so afraid he was that she might not do or say the right thing, make the right impression. She was happier tonight without David.

No popular debutante ever had such a rush as Fanny. It was not her beauty—many in Washington were more beautiful—but rather her joyous enthusiasm, her delicate personal perception, her radiant pleasure in all that was done for her that made her so quickly popular.

"I did not know that a beautiful woman could be so unspoiled," a white-haired old gentleman said to her.

"I shan't be unspoiled long if you pay me such pretty compliments," said Fanny shyly, looking up at him and then quickly dropping her eyes.

"Why do you give so much time to your elderly cavaliers?" asked Juliette.

"Oh, I don't know—perhaps because I was always hungering when I was little for my father to love me—and he didn't. Anyway, I like nice old gentlemen. They are so pleased, the sweet old dears, when they find I really do like them."

A major general, who certainly never thought of himself as elderly, taught her to ride. A bachelor ambassador gave a Venetian fete in her honor that was the high point of the season. A famous senator, who had lost his wife not too long before, gave her a breakfast, and hinted that if Fanny were free he might not be inconsolable; he could not think of her as married, he said. Others told her the same.

A good many men tried to make love to her; and Fanny scolded them, or laughed at them gently and once or twice was so genuinely distressed at a hint of real feeling that a certain very young under secretary was moved to tears of regret for his scarlet past; and a certain blase attache with tired, burnt-out eyes told her she would remain a white memory as long as he lived.

"I had almost forgotten" the man said, "that women, young women, could be simple and natural and sweet. You are so incredibly sweet, my white one. Will you do me one favor, one last favor?"

"Of course I will," said Fanny.

"Will you let me draw the curtain—no one will see us—and stand here with me in the dark, your hand in mine, and watch the moon rise? It will take only a few minutes—there is a light already on the edge of the world. It will mean nothing to you—a great deal to me."

Fanny nodded. He drew the curtains close, and for a little longer than five minutes they stood silently hand in hand, watching a great lighted Chinese lantern climb inch by inch over a bend in the Potomac and turn the black waters to rippling silver.

"The path to the moon—see, my sweet, there is still a path to the moon." The hand that held Fanny's tightened; and then he bent low and kissed her hand, drew the curtains and took her back to the supper room.

Monday a fortune is laid at Fanny's feet. Will it shake her loyalty to David?

PONTIUS PILATE.

Pontius Pilate, politician,
Was the slave of self-ambition.
He grew merrier or graver
As it brought him Roman favor.
Pontius Pilate stopped to measure
Wrong or right by Roman pleasure.
Doing good he thought a blunder,
If it brought on Roman thunder.
He'd cause any friend's removal
For his emperor's approval.

Pontius Pilate stood in terror
Of committing any error.
He was much too shrewd and clever
To do right for right's sake ever.
O'er decisions' he'd sit blinking
Till he knew what Rome was thinking.
Ere he ruled in his dominion
He must first get Rome's opinion.
Poor old Pilate, terror-haunted,
Guessing just what Caesar wanted!

Many a man still spars and fences
And first counts the consequences
And considers—more's the pity—
How the voters in the city
Will by honor be affected.
Will the brave man be rejected?
Will the spoken truth defeat him?
How tomorrow will men greet him?
And, like poor old Pontius Pilate,
He does naught the mob won't smile at.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

SMOOTH, NON-IRRITATING DIET NECESSARY FOR PATIENTS WHO HAVE MUCOUS COLITIS.

Many people who believe their colons are sluggish, eat a great deal of roughage and are constantly bloated and uncomfortable and have a tight feeling in the abdomen. This is because they really have highly sensitive and irritable colons, and in order to be comfortable and have sufficient elimination, need an opposite type of diet. They are nearly always uncomfortable on a high residue diet, and although this gives them regular evacuations, it irritates the inside of the bowel so much that they always feel a sense of pressure or incomplete emptying. Often they take to cathartics to get rid of this full feeling, and the cathartics still further irritate an already sensitive mucous lining of the colon.

Dr. Clendening

Such are the cases which have come lately to be called colitis. It is more a nerve irritability than an actual inflammation of the colon (as the word colitis would indicate). But some cases go on to an extremely severe functional condition—mucous colitis.

For these individuals the question of a daily evacuation is of secondary importance. They require to be made comfortable, and must have a "smooth" or non-residue diet. Such a diet, containing sufficient residue for such intestines is as follows:

Cereals: All kinds except bran foods. (Oatmeal should be cooked in a double boiler at least one hour.) May have cream and sugar.

Bread: Toast, crackers, stale bread, zwieback.

Eggs: Coddled, boiled, poached or scrambled over water—usually two a day.

Meats: Lean meat only. No pork or pickled meats. Meats should include beef (broiled steak, boiled or baked beef), stewed or baked chicken; broiled or baked fish; broiled or baked liver. May have two slices of crisp bacon a day.

Soups: Cream soups, strained vegetable or lean meat broth.

Fruits: Orange juice or grapefruit juice (with sugar if desired).

Dairy Products: Buttermilk, cottage cheese, butter.

Miscellaneous: Noodles, macaroni, spaghetti (no tomato sauce).

Desserts: Rice, gelatine (made with strained fruit juices if desired). May have fruit jellies, tapioca, rice, pudding (without raisins), vanilla ice cream, ices, sugar cookies, angel food cake, stick candy.

Avoid: Sweet milk, fats (except butter and cream), fried foods, pancakes, condiments, spiced foods, pickled meats, pork, syrups, jams, soda fountain drinks, iced drinks, cider, salads, vegetables, fruits (except as ordered), all pastries (except as ordered).

Editors note: Three pamphlets and three articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet," "Diet of the Expectant Mother" and "Tuberculosis."

TAMORA SCENE OF BAD BLAZE

Grocery and Drug Store Burned During Friday Night.

(Special to The Star.)

TAMORA, Neb., Jan. 10—Fire late Friday night completely destroyed the grocery store of Arthur Bartles and the drug store of H. E. Seibert. The origin of the blaze, which was discovered shortly after midnight, has not been determined, but it is known to have started in the grocery.

The chemical truck was called from Seward, but in spite of all efforts the two buildings and their contents burned.

A section of 100-pair cable of the Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph company was destroyed and repair men came from Lincoln at once. Complete service was restored by noon today.

New Superior Hotel Appreciation Banquet

Directors are Hosts to Citizens of City Who Contributed to Purchase of the Site.

SUPERIOR, Neb., Jan. 10—(AP)—Directors of the new Hotel Nebraskan here, were hosts Friday night at an "appreciation banquet" given by them in honor of 150 residents of Superior and nearby, who two years ago contributed toward a fund for purchase of the hotel site.

The hotel was formally opened last April and has enjoyed eighteen months of satisfactory business, the contributors were told. The structure cost about $200,000. It was erected by a business interests of Mankato and Formosa, Kas.

D. F. Stanley, Mankato attorney and hotel director, was toastmaster for the occasion. Three other directors, L. L. Burchinal, Formosa; R. B. Newbury and Arch Bonecutter, both of Mankato, responded.

Other speakers were J. H. Agee, former Superior attorney, now general manager of the Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph company; George L. Day, Homer Marshall, H. B. Hartzler, D. L. Coulson and Doane F. Kiechel, Superior residents.

SPANISH WAR VETS INSTALL OFFICERS

Camp William Lewis, United Spanish War veterans, and the ladies auxiliary, installed officers Friday night at Walsh hall, 141 South Twelfth street. For the camp Judge George A. Eberly is the commander of the camp, and William Patterson, senior vice commander. Edwin Morrison is junior vice commander; John Brady, chaplain; James Baker, officer of the day; Gustav Johnson, officer of the guard; and Otto Meier, historian. Carl Anderson, state commander of Omaha, was the installing officer. He was assisted by J. D. Baker and O. W. Sincebaugh of Lincoln.

The installation followed a special meeting, at which the election early in December, was protested.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO VINE CHURCH OVER BUDGET FOR 1931

At the annual business meeting of the Vine Congregational church Friday evening the board of trustees reported to the two hundred and sixty members present that the budget for 1931 had been subscribed with $70 in excess of the required amount, according to Rev. Ervine D. Ingles, pastor.

For his thirty-six years as a member of the board of trustees the group voted Prof. G. D. Swezey a life trusteeship in the church. W. T. Page was presented with a Bible by the church for his service as superintendent of the Sunday school for twenty-one years, having missed only fourteen Sundays during this period.

The membership committee reported that sixty-one new members had been added to the roster of the church during 1930, and that the average morning attendance for 1930 was 226.

A musical program directed by J. L. Heilman, followed the remainder of the routine business.

SAYS ANDREW'S STORY UNTRUE

Father of Merle Sizer Says Investigation Already Made.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Jan. 10—(AP)—W. R. Sizer, father of Myrl Sizer, said when a press dispatch was read to him that he had had the story of Walter A. Andrew investigated at the time it was made public two years ago and found it to be groundless.

Sizer said he sent his son Harry to Wayne then and that he found the woman with Andrew at the time he stole an automobile in escaping after a jail break was Mrs. Andrew and that she drove the car to Kansas City.

The son reported that so far as he had been able to learn there had been neither murder nor suicide at or near Carroll, Neb., at the time the convict said Miss Sizer killed herself. Sizer expressed the conviction that Andrew told the story two years ago with the hope of being sent back to Nebraska that he might again escape.

Whether he believed his daughter was dead or alive, Sizer would not say, but it is the general opinion among peace officers here that she is alive, for some unknown reason keeping her whereabouts secret.

A short time after Miss Sizer disappeared, her father was informed she was in a hospital in Kansas City. Visiting the hospital, Sizer said he found no trace of his daughter, but that a Kansas City reporter who obtained a picture of the girl told him there was no doubt in his mind but that the patient he saw was Miss Sizer.

EINSTEIN'S HOME ROBBED.

KAPUTH, Germany, Jan. 10—(AP)—Burglars broke into the summer home of Prof. Albert Einstein some time during the night and when the caretaker entered the place this morning he found that it had been ransacked. The front door had been jimmied open, all the drawers in the great scientist's home had been turned upside down and thoroughly searched. The caretaker said that only Professor Einstein himself could tell whether anything had been stolen.

Plan to Unite Northern Railroads is Abandoned

Rail Chiefs Say Impracticable to Carry Through Plan of Assuring Independent Burlington System.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(INS)— Abandonment of the plan to merge the Northern Pacific railway and the Great Northern, the so-called "Hill" roads, was announced here today in an official statement by Charles Donnely and Ralph Budd, presidents, respectively of the two roads.

The statement of the two presidents said that until recently they had hoped to evolve a satisfactory plan of merger and that, were it not "impracticable at this time to carry through the plan of assuring an independent Burlington system, we should have submitted to the interstate commerce commission reasons more convincing than ever why the unification of the Northern should be authorized."

Plan to Unite Northern Railroads is Abandoned

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(INS)—Abandonment of the plan to merge the Northern Pacific railway and the Great Northern, the so-called "Hill" roads, was announced here today in an official statement by Charles Donnely and Ralph Budd, presidents, respectively, of the two roads.

The statement of the two presidents said that until recently they had hoped to evolve a satisfactory plan of merger and that, were it not "impracticable at this time to carry through the plan of assuring an independent Burlington system, we should have submitted to the interstate commerce commission reasons more convincing than ever why the unification of the Northern should be authorized."

New York Stock Prices Stiffen And Close Slightly Higher In A Dull Saturday Session

Grain Prices Are Generally Lower

Closing Figures for Corn 1 to 1⅛c Off; Wheat and Oats ¼c Down.

Grains closed generally lower today, led by corn. The latter commodity was depressed by free selling on continued favorable weather conditions over the belt and profit-taking.

Old crop deliveries of wheat finished ¼ to ⅜c up with an active demand, and limited offerings.

Closing prices for corn were 1 to 1⅛c off. July wheat and oats were ¼c down. Rye was ¼ to ⅜c lower.

Old crop wheat futures were firm early on scattered buying which found offerings light. July was moderately lower with some selling on weakness in Winnipeg yesterday and poor support. Trade was moderate and mixed early. Receipts were liberal.

The Liverpool wheat market opened ¼ to ⅝c higher but closed ½ to ⅝c lower. The Winnipeg market was ¼ to ⅜c lower with advices from Buenos Aires reported weaker prices there.

Continued mild weather influenced further selling of corn futures. Prices eased about ⅛c. Demand was dull early. Cash markets are strong for choice grades but easy for ordinary quality. Country offerings to arrive continue light.

Oats and rye covered a narrow range.

Estimated carlot receipts were: Wheat, 130, corn, 87, and oats, 22.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10

A moderate flurry of short-covering in the final half hour of today's abbreviated session on the curb market, resulted in a firming up of prices in most sections of the list, although final quotations were in the main, irregular.

Tampa Electric features a firm utility group with an advance of 1½ points to 50½. Other utility issues to attract good demand included Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric, Associated Gas & Electric A, Niagara Hudson Power, and United Gas.

Cities Service proved a laggard throughout most of the session, with the late upturn enabling this favorite to finish off approximately unchanged on the day.

Oils were dull and but nominally changed, with Gulf, Humble, Vacuum, and Standard of Indiana holding close to previous levels.

Ungerleider rallied a point to 22¾, in a somewhat sluggish investment trust group, featured by pressure against Goldman Sachs and United Founders, both of which dipped fractionally.

Appalachian Gas was aggressively bought, reaching its best levels of the recovery at close to 7. Ford, Ltd., came back into speculative favor with a run-up of a point to 16¾.

Aluminum, however, was reactionary, selling off almost 5 points to its low of 150¼.

Rails and Utilities Score Small Gains

Specialties, Under Pressure Friday, Snap Back 1 to 4 Points.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10

Stock prices were inclined slightly higher here today in one of the dullest sessions in a month. Stocks marked time while awaiting the steel corporation's monthly report on forward business and the bears played safe by covering up a portion of their shorts. Highpriced specialties like Allied Chemical, which were under pressure yesterday, snapped back 1 to 4 points and fractional gains were recorded for the active rails and utilities. After dragging behind the list most of the short session, U. S. Steel pushed ahead to 143, up a point from Friday's close. Nash was again the leader in the motor group and pushed ahead more than a point to 32. Chemicals and coppers were unsettled by the fresh declines in prices of their respective products.

Allied Chemical's sharp recovery was the feature of the final period. This stock closed 4¾ points higher at 168¾, registering a pronounced come-back from its recent slump.

United States Steel moved up a point to 143⅞ and closed on the top. American Can was up ¼ at 112½. Union Carbide up about a point at 59½; Nash Motor up 1¼ at 31⅞; General Motors up ½ at 37; Auburn Auto up 2½ at 109¾. Sears Roebuck up 1⅛ at 47½; Paramount up a point at 42. New York Central up ⅞ at 122⅞; Southern Railway up 1 at 59½; Public Service New Jersey up 1¼ at 76⅞; American Tobacco B up 1½ at 112.

The left-overs from Friday's closing reaction were thrown on the market in the first period today, forcing prices of most of the active shares fractionally lower. Rallies in the industrials and utilities followed directly in the wake of this opening reaction, and the market was dull but firm in the balance of the first hour.

Wall street displayed the greatest interest in the "steel tonnage" report due immediately after the close of the market. This report shows the actual back-log of orders on the books of the U. S. Steel corporation, the December accumulation of which is expected to be from 200,000 to 400,000 tons more than in November. The week-end business reviews of Bradstreet's, Dun's and the banking houses noted the "more cheerful feeling visible" as the year begins.

Stocks of the northwestern railroads were unaffected by the abandonment of the present plans for merging the Northern Pacific and Great Northern and the steady. New York Central sold in good balance of the rail group was dull but volume at 121½. Pennsylvania at 61 and Atchison above 190.

Rallying tendencies were seen in the gas and electric light stocks shortly after the opening of the market. United Corporation was well bought under 19 after the submission of its annual report for 1930, showing net income of 87 cents a share on actual dividends from its stock holdings. This does not include the equity in company earnings above their cash dividends.

United States Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse and other market favorites again marked time while awaiting more definite indications of the immediate outlook for business in its important ramifications. "Big steel" sold in small volume around 143⅛, unchanged from Friday. Known speculative leader to develop any day's close, and the failure of this wellmotion on the upper side of the market discouraged bullish activities in other sections of the market.

Action of the market today is taken as another evidence of the cautious attitude prevailing both in business and in security market circles. Strength and activity in the listed bond market continued today for the tenth consecutive session, a definite sign of return confidence in important investment circles.

Anaconda Copper lost ⅛ at 31½. U. S. Steel was down ⅛ at 142¾; General Electric down ⅛ at 45; Johns-Manville down ⅛ at 62⅝; Houston Oil down ⅛ at 39¾; American Tel. & Tel. down ⅛ at 186. United Aircraft down ¼ at 25⅛.

Rails were irregular, with Atchison up ⅛ at 190¾; Baltimore & Ohio down ⅛ at 78⅞. Katy unchanged at 22¾; New York Central down ⅛ at 121½; Pennsylvania up ⅛ at 60⅞. Southern Railway down ⅛ at 56⅞; Wabash up ⅛ at 23⅞.

Consolidated Gas advanced ⅛ to 86; American & Foreign Power was down ⅛ at 33⅞; Columbia Gas down ⅛ at 35⅞; North American down a point at 67; United Corp. unchanged at 18⅞.

Atlantic Refining dropped back fractionally to 22⅝. Standard Oil of New Jersey was down ⅛ at 50; Texas Corp. unchanged at 35⅞.

American Can lost ⅛ at 112¾. Case was down a point at 87¼; Fox Film down ⅛ at 27; Radio Keith down ⅛ at 17⅛.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10

For the tenth consecutive session listed bonds on the New York stock exchange forged ahead to a higher level of prices today behind a firm and steady buying wave. Profit taking in the last-stepping foreign government bonds and American speculative issues flattened out the peaks established during the week but the better grade of corporation bonds held firmly.

Liberty bonds were dull as compared with the previous sessions of the week. First 4¼s moved up fractionally to 103, fourth 4¼s at 103.25, treasury 4¼s at 113 and treasury 3¾s to 102.27. In the foreign list, Columbia 6s of '61 moved up a point to 64 while German Agricultural Bank 6s were down a point at 74½, and Serbian 7s advanced a [illegible].

(U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 10

CATTLE—On certain classes where there was shipping competition such as good light steers, desirable heifers and some of the best cows prices this week ruled strong to a little higher, but in the main the market for killing cattle was slow, with a steady to weak undertone; medium cows broke as much as 25 to 50c and there were some of the plainer steers that looked 25c lower, all classes were very uneven, stockers and feeders are closing slow and barely steady; today's market, as usual on Saturday, was nominally unchanged all around.

CLOSE: Cattle receipts, 350, compared with a week ago: Slaughter steers and she stock mostly steady, spots stronger on better grades, bulls steady, vealer 50c higher, stockers and feeder about steady; bulks for the week, fed steers and yearlings $8.25@10.50; weighty steers $11.25; yearlings up to $12.00; heifers $7.00@9.00; few loads $9.25@9.60; beef cows $4.25@5.50; choice lots $6.25@7.25; cutter grades $3.00@3.75; medium bulls, $4.50@5.00; practical top vealers, $9.50; selected lots $9.50@10.00; stocker and feeder steers, $6.75@8.50; several loads, $8.75@9.30; yearlings, $9.75; stock calves, $10.75.

HOGS—The light supply met an urgent inquiry from all quarters and trade was active at unevenly higher levels; light hogs ruled strong to 5c higher, while heavy butchers supported by shipping orders were 10 to 15c up; bulk of sales were $7.25@7.65; top $7.70; packing sows shared the advance at $6.10@6.35; receipts were real heavy last week, but a strong undercurrent dominated the trade and although the market was very uneven, prices closed steady to 10 to 15c lower than last Saturday.

CLOSE: Hog receipts, 5,500; uneven 5 to 15c higher; top $7.70 on sorted 180 lb. lights; bulk 170-250 lb. weights $7.50@7.65, 250-315 lb. weights, $7.25@7.50; packing sows, $6.30@6.35; average cost Friday $8.28, weight 252.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10

COTTON—Future contracts on the New York cotton exchange today was slightly lower during the early trading on disappointing Liverpool cables and under a little scattered selling. The volume of business however, was small with an absence of any new features. The south was not selling but the demand was slow.

At the start of the final hour contracts were 1 to 4 points lower with January new at 10.02, off 1; March at 10.20, off 2; May at 10.46, off 4; July at 10.64, off 5, and December at 10.81, off 1.

The market appears to be entirely a watching and waiting affair—watching the strike and stock market news and awaiting developments as to the next acreage. The pivot on which, according to the consensus of opinion, the 1931 price will swing.

The stock of all kinds of cotton in the world is some 10,220,000 bales, of which no less than 6,125,000 bales are American. The crying need of the times is sharply reduced reduction throughout all the ramifications of general trade at home and abroad.

Temperatures are below normal over the Great Basin, the southern Mountain region, and the Gulf and south Atlantic states, and are above normal over most of the remainder of the country, being unusually high over parts of the Canadian Northwest and in the middle Missouri Valley.

New York Stock Prices Stiffen And Close Slightly Higher In A Dull Saturday Session

Grain Prices Are Generally Lower

Closing Figures for Corn 1 to 1⅛c Off; Wheat and Oats ¼c Down.

Grains closed generally lower today, led by corn. The latter commodity was depressed by free selling on continued favorable weather conditions over the belt and profit-taking.

Old crop deliveries of whet finished ¼ to ⅝c up with an active demand, and limited offerings.

Closing prices for corn were 1 to 1⅛c off, July wheat and oats were ¼c down. Rye was ¼ to ⅝c lower.

Old crop wheat futures were firm early on scattered buying which found offerings light. July was moderately lower with some selling on weakness in Winnipeg yesterday and poor support. Trade was moderate and mixed early. Receipts were liberal.

The Loverpool wheat market opened ¼ to ½d. higher but closed ½ to ⅝d. lower. The Winnipeg market was ¼ to ⅝c lower with advices from Buenos Aires reported weaker prices there.

Continued milk weather influenced further selling of corn futures. Prices eased about ½c. Demand was dull early. Cash markets are strong for choice grades, but easy for ordinary quality. Country offerings to arrive continue light.

Oats and rye covered a narrow range.

Estimated carlot receipts were: Wheat, 130; corn, 97, and oats, 22.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.
By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Jan. 10

A moderate flurry of short-covering in the final half hour of today's abbreviated session on the curb market, resulted in a firming up of prices in most sections of the list, although final quotations were in the main, irregular.

Tampa Electric features a firm utility group with an advance of 2½ points to 50⅞. Other utility issues to attract good demand included Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric, Associated Gas & Electric A, Niagara Hudson Power, and United Gas.

Cities Service proved a laggard throughout most of the session, with the late upturn enabling this favorite to finish off approximately unchanged on the day.

Oils were dull and but nominally changed, with Gulf, Humble, Vacuum, and Standard of Indiana holding close to previous levels.

Ungerleider rallied a point to 22¾, in a somewhat sluggish investment trust group, featured by pressure against Goldman Sachs and United Founders, both of which dipped fractionally.

Appalachian Gas was aggressively bought, reaching its best levels of the recovery at close to 7. Ford, Ltd., came back into speculative favor with a run-up of a point to 16¾.

Aluminum, however, was reactionary, selling off almost 5 points to its low of 150¼.

STEEL REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(I. N. S.)—Unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation increased 302,960 tons during December, according to the monthly report of the corporation, issued at noon today.

Advance orders on the corporation's books on December 31 totalled 3,943,596 tons against 3,639,636 tons on November 30 and 4,417,193 tons on December 31 of 1929.

Rails and Utilities Score Small Gains

Specialties, Under Pressure Friday, Snap Back 1 to 4 Points.

By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Jan. 10

Stock prices were inclined slightly higher here today in one of the dullest sessions in a month. Stocks marked time while awaiting the steel corporation's monthly report on forward business and the bears played safe by covering up a portion of their shorts. Highpriced specialties like Allied Chemical which were under pressure yesterday snapped back 1 to 4 points and fractional gains were recorded for the active rails and utilities. After dragging behind the list most of the short session, U. S. Steel pushed ahead to 143¾, up a point from Friday's close. Nash was again the leader in the motor group, and pushed ahead more than a point to 32. Chemicals and coppers were unsettled by the fresh declines in prices of their respective products.

Allied Chemicals sharp recovery was the feature of the final period. This stock closed 4¾ points higher, at 168¾, registering a pronounced come-back from its recent slump.

United States Steel moved up a point to 143⅞ and closed on the top. American can was up ¼ at 113½; Union Carbide up about a point at 59½; Nash Motor up 1⅛ at 31⅞; General Motors up ⅛ at 37; Auburn Auto up 2¾ at 109¾; Sears Roebuck up 1⅛ at 49½; Paramount up a point at 42; New York Central up ⅜ at 122⅞; Southern Railway up 1 at 59½; Public Service New Jersey up 1⅛ at 78¾; American Tobacco B up 1⅛ at 112.

The left-overs from Friday's closing reaction were thrown on the market in the first period today, forcing prices of most of the active shares fractionally lower. Rallies in the industrials and utilities followed directly in the wake of this opening reaction, and the market was dull but firm in the balance of the first hour.

Wall street displayed the greatest interest in the "steel tonnage report due immediately after the close of the market. This report shows the actual back-log of orders on the books of the U. S. Steel corporation, the December accumulation of which is expected to be from 300,000 to 400,000 tons more than in November. The week-end business reviews of Bradstreet's, Dun's and the banking houses noted the "more cheerful feeling visible" as the year begins.

Stocks of the northwestern railroads were unaffected by the abandonment of the present plans for merging the Northern Pacific and Great Northern and the steady. New York Central sold in good balance of the rail group was dull but volume at 121½. Pennsylvania at 61 and Atchison above 190.

Rallying tendencies were seen in the gas and electric light stocks shortly after the opening of the market. United Corporation was wall bought under 19 after the submission of its annual report for 1930, showing net income of 87 cents a share on actual dividends from its stock holdings. This does not include the equity in company earnings above their cash dividends.

United States Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse and other market favorites again marked time while awaiting more definite indications of the immediate outlook for business in its important ramifications. "Big steel" sold in small volume around 143½, unchanged from Friday's close. The absence of any known speculative leader to develop any motion on the upper side of the market discouraged bullish activities in other sections of the market.

Action of the market today is taken as another evidence of the cautious attitude prevailing both in business and in security market circles. Strength and activity in the listed bond market continued today for the tenth consecutive session a definite sign of return confidence in important investment circles.

Anaconda Copper lost ½ at 31½. U. S. Steel was down ⅛ at 142¾; General Electric down ½ at 45; Johns-Manville down ⅜ at 61⅞; Houston Oil down ⅞ at 39¾; American Tel. & Tel. down ⅛ at 186; United Aircraft down ¼ at 25¾.

Rails were irregular, with Atchison up ¼ at 190¼; Baltimore & Ohio down ¼ at 78⅞; Katy unchanged at 22¾; New York Central down ½ at 121½; Pennsylvania up ⅛ at 60⅞; Southern Railway down ⅛ at 58⅛; Wabash up ⅛ at 23⅞.

Consolidated Gas advanced ¼ to 86; American & Foreign Power was down ½ at 33⅞; Columbia Gas down ¼ at 35⅞; North American down a point at 67; United Corp. unchanged at 18⅞.

Atlantic Refining dropped back fractionally to 22⅛. Standard Oil of New Jersey was down ¼ at 50; Texas Corp. unchanged at 35⅜.

American Can lost ⅛ at 112⅞. Case was down a point at 87¾; Fox Film down ⅛ at 27; Radio Keith down ¼ at 17⅛.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.
By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Jan. 10

For the tenth consecutive session listed bonds on the New York stock exchange forged ahead to a higher level of prices today, behind a firm and steady buying wave. Profit taking in the fast-stepping foreign government bonds and American speculative issues flattened out the peaks established during the week but the better grade of corporation bonds held firmly.

Liberty bonds were dull as compared with the previous sessions of the wek. First 4¼s mived up fractionally to 103; fourth 4¼s to 103.25; treasury 4¼s to 113 and treasury 3⅜s to 102.27. In the foreign list, Columbia 6s of '66 moved up a point to 64, whiel German Agricultural Bank 6s were down a point at 74½, and Serbian 7s advanced - to 79½.

Stevens Hotel continued their spectacular upward move, with a 4-point jump to 68. Philadelphia & Reading 6s were up 1½ at 82; Warner Brothers 6s up 1 at 74; American Tel. & Tel. 4½s up fractionally at 129¾, and International Tel. & Tel. up ⅛ at 90½.

COTTON—Future contracts on the New York cotton exchange today was slightly lower during the early trading on disappointing Liverpool cables and under a little scattered selling. The volume of business, however, was small with an absence of any new features. The south was not selling but the demand was slow.

At the start of the final hour contracts were 1 to 4 points lower with January new at 10.02, off 1; March at 10.20, off 2; May at 10.46, off 4; July at 10.64, off 3; and December at 10.81, of 1.

The market appears to be entirely a watching and waiting affair—watching the strike and stock market news and awaiting developments as to the next acreage. The pivot on which, according to the consensus of opinion, the 1931 price will swing.

The stock of all kinds of cotton in the world is some 10,320,000 bales, of which no less than 8,125,000 bales are American. The crying need of the times is sharply reduced reduction throughout all the ramifications of general trade at home and abroad.

"Big Six" Basket Race Gets Under Way Saturday Night

Huskers at Home With Missouri; Oklahoma at Ames With Iowa State

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

The Big Six conference basketball campaign is on tonight, with Lincoln and Ames the scenes of the opening engagements. Nebraska and Missouri, traditional rivals, will meet at the university coliseum at 8 o'clock, while Oklahoma and Iowa State will clash at Ames in the other conference contest.

Tigers Last Year's Champs.

The Nebraska-Missouri game is the headliner of the program, the Tigers having captured the 1930 conference championship and Nebraska being figured to have a squad this winter with the ability to seriously test the Bengal chances to repeat.

In preliminary games, the Huskers and Tigers have suffered about the same treatment, the Nebraska outfit having dropped five of six games, while the Tigers have been set back in four contests. Coach Charley Black's Cornhuskers, however, have been facing the more strenuous opposition, having played intersectional engagements in five of the six games.

Even Chance to Win.

Nebraska will be conceding the Tigers nothing in tonight's game, entering the contest with at least an even chance for victory. The Scarlet, while it has lost five consecutive games, has made a creditable showing, the point margin in five defeats being the slender edge of 23 points, 178 to 201.

This stiff competition preliminary to the opening of the conference schedule has been figured to season the squad for the Big Six race and the Cornhuskers should enter the game tonight at mid-season stride.

Missouri Improving.

After a floundering start, the Missouri team has shown signs of improvement. Last Monday, the Tigers forced Washington to an extra period before the Bears capped the verdict. The Washington quintet trimmed Creighton at Omaha Friday night.

The Nebraska lineup for the Missouri game will find the usual combination of Fisher and Davey at forwards, Maclay at center, Hokuf and Koster at guards. Return of Davey and Hokuf to active duty is figured to strengthen the Nebraska quintet. Lineup:

Tonight's Lineup.

Nebraska—	Pos.	—Missouri
Fisher	f	Zinn
Davey	f	Wagner
Maclay	c	Huhn
Hokuf	g	VanDyne
Koster	g	Boechemeier

Officials—John Wulf, Kansas, and V. S. Egan, Grinnell.

Oklahoma, roughly handled by all conference teams during the 1930 race, is prepared to start after revenge tonight when the Sooners meet Iowa State college on the Ames court. The Oklahoma tribe copped two games from Texas and Southern Methodist and then finished training with wins over Bethany college and the Oklahoma Aggies.

Sooners Favored.

The Sooners, therefore, will enter the Iowa State game slightly favored to win. Iowa State, however, has a good chance to smear the Normanites, as Coach Louis Menze has five veterans on the Ames roster, along with some promising recruits. The Cyclones have won two of three early season contests.

Kansas and Kansas Aggies, figured to come in for a big cut in the conference spoils, delay their conference inaugural until Monday evening. Kansas takes on Oklahoma at Lawrence, while the Kaggies play Missouri. The Jayhawkers have won six non-conference games while the Wildcats have finished ahead in five.

Hawkeyes Defeat Nebraska Matmen

IOWA CITY, Ia., Jan. 10—Iowa defeated Nebraska in wrestling here last night, 17-11. The Cornhuskers won three of the first four matches, but lacked strength in the heavier divisions. The Nebraska squad meets Cornell college at Mt. Vernon tonight. Summary:

Crete Hi Clicks In Cage Triumph

CRETE, Neb., Jan. 10—Crete high took a long stride toward Mid-State league honors last night when the Cardinals beat Kearney, 29-12. Crete was ahead, 16-6, at the end of the half and had the game well in hand throughout the second period.

Crete scoring honors were well divided, the Cardinal offense clicking in sensational fashion at times. Kearney's scoring strength was somewhat cripled by the absence of Emil Panek. Score:

Teachers Balked By Waverly High

The Teachers high cagers gulped their second defeat of the week when Waverly trimmed them 19-7 Friday night on the university coliseum court. The Waverly basketeers slipped through seven field goals and made good five gift tosses to account for their total.

Although nearly the entire Teachers squad was inserted into the lineup, the Waverly defense was able to stop the Teachers' scoring. Only Laub, Eis and Dier were able to break through the Waverly guards for a basket. The other Teachers' point was the result of a free-throw by Lanning. The score:

JACKSON GRABS BASKET VICTORY

Beechner Outfit Trims Shoptown Basketmen In Court Sport.

The red and white banner of Jackson high school topped the purple and gold pennant of Havelock again Friday night when the Beechner quintet carried away a 17-13 victory from the Shoptown court. The Jackson team chalked up nine points in the first half, while the Engineers counted a single field goal.

The University Place lads opened with four baskets in the first quarter while holding Havelock to three shots at the hoop. Each of these attempts went for naught and Jackson held an 8-0 advantage at the end of the initial period.

Young placed Havelock in the scoring column with a basket early in the second quarter. Baskets by Foster and Jordan boosted the Jackson score to 12 points at the midway mark, while Havelock retained credit for a single basket.

Havelock Rallies.

The Delaporte team rallied in the second half and drew up within two points of the victors. A free throw gave Jackson a three-point lead at the end of the third period. Each team scored two baskets in the final quarter and Jackson added an additional gift toss.

Max Jordan, guard, was the outstanding player in the Jackson lineup. His work both on starting plays and on defense was very effective. Foster shared scoring honors with Jordan by finding the hoop twice with field goals and once with a free throw. The passing of the Beechner team was superior to that of the Engineers.

Although the Havelock cagers were unable to accomplish much in the first half, they came back in the last two periods to play a commendable brand of basketball. The defensive play of Captain J. Freauf was exceptionally good. The eight-semester rule eliminated Helvey from the Engineers' lineup and the loss was keenly felt. The score:

BENTON CAGERS DISPLAY CLASS

Missouri Youths Romp To Decisive Victory Over Lincoln.

It was a finely-oiled St. Joseph Benton high school cage machine which exhibited its power against Lincoln high on Irving maples Friday night before a sparsely filled auditorium. The final count favored the Josies, 24-17, after a Lincoln rally had put the Red and Black quintet in the running, only to see the Bentonites pull out a seven-point margin.

Benton was one of the best trained high school quints that has performed against Lincoln in the past few seasons. Fortified with plenty of height in the forward wall and possessing a pair of clever guards, the Springermen had teamwork down to perfection. Of the nine men composing the squad, five are third-year men and the other four are playing their second year.

Whitaker Scores First.

Whitaker, guard de luxe, put the Cards out in front after two minutes of uneventful play when the Lincoln defense allowed him to get under the goal to score. Harold Miller counted on a follow-in shot to tie it up, but two free tosses by Hickman, six foot three inch center, gave the Cards a 4-2 lead at the quarter.

Wampler converted on Whitaker's foul, but the latter player retaliated seconds later when Harold Miller was guilty of his second violation of the evening. Carlson tied it up with a beautiful shot after a dribble down the entire floor, and the stocky center followed it up with another basket, putting Lincoln two points in front. Two baskets by Holcomb and one each by Whitaker and Erickson, however, came in quick succession and put the Springermen out in front, 13-7 at half time.

Lincoln Rally Fails.

A determined Lincoln assault, led by Carlson and Herod Miller, put the Capital City crew within three points of the visitors early in the fourth quarter, but Cross and Erickson counted to put a Kayo on any Lincoln hopes of winning.

The Lincoln team played disorganized basketball, little teamwork being displayed by the Ballermen. The brilliant offensive play of Johnny Carlson and the defensive exhibition put on by Ray Baldwin, sub forward, were the bright spots of the evening for Coach Baller. Benton's guards, Whitaker and Holcomb, were the individual stars of the game, Whitaker pulling down 10 points for high individual scoring honors.

Tonight the Lincoln quint will invade York for a game with Floyd Gautsch's Buff and Blue five, and the travelling Cardinals will tangle with Grand Island high on the Third City court. The score:

Telephone Team Steps On Dewitt

The Lincoln Telephone company basketeers stepped away from DeWitt in the second half to wind up with a 19-14 victory Friday night on the Lincoln "Y" floor. The score was knotted at the midway marker, but the Telephone lads chalked up five baskets and a free throw to DeWitt's two baskets and two free throws and walked away with a five-point margin.

WESLEYAN HIGH PLAYS ASHLAND

The Wesleyan high squad meets Coach Bryan Harrell's Ashland leather tossers tonight at 8 o'clock in the Wesleyan gymnasium. The game will be preceded by a tilt between second strings of the two schools which starts at seven.

The Wesleyan high squad has been progressing steadily each week and Coach Mitten's team will give opponents plenty of trouble if more accuracy in goal shooting can be developed. The Young Methodists lost a last minute tussle to Syracuse early in the week, 17-15.

Coach Harrell has an inexperienced squad at Ashland, but indications are that the veteran mentor has brought them along fast, as the Ashland flippers held the powerful Crete five even during the first half of a holiday tilt before finally falling before the Kleinmen.

Pershing Invited To Referee Relays

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 10—(AP.)—Efforts will be renewed to get General John J. Pershing to serve as honorary referee of this year's Drake relays, it was decided at a meeting of the relay committee meeting here.

E. C. Lytton, business manager at Drake who has conducted negotiations twice with the general for his appearance here, was delegated to renew the invitation, since Pershing has said he hoped to serve sometime when other engagements did not conflict.

WESLEYAN BOWS TO BRONCHO FIVE

Methodists Bowled Over In Conference Opener At Hastings.

HASTINGS, Neb., Jan. 10—The Hastings college Bronchos pranced to a 34-24 win over Nebraska Wesleyan in a spirited cage tilt here last night. It was the formal bow in the state college conference basketball race for both squads and the Hastings entry again established itself as a leading contender for cage laurels.

The Bronchos got off to a big lead early in the first half, running up 11 points while the Waldorf crew was able to count but once on a free throw by Fitz. Trailing 10 counters, the Methodists began to drop a few of the numerous short shots they were getting and goals by Ward, Fellers and Trott brought the Methodists to a slim two points in the rear near the end of the half. Bruntz dropped through a two-pointer to give Coach Keel's outfit a 13-9 lead as the half ended.

Second Half Speedy.

Both quintets opened the second period with bursts of speed. Glenn dribbled in for a goal and the feat was duplicated by Fitz of the Methodists. Ad Bivens dropped a two-pointer and Fitz retaliated with a great one-handed effort and the margin still was four points.

The Bronchos began to draw away, however, and successive baskets by Bruntz and Ad Bivens, along with a gift toss by Bivens, put the local five in front with a 13 margin before Johnson found the loop with a long toss.

Ad Bivens counted on a nice follow-in shot and Ward kept the pace with one from the corner of the court. Two baskets by Johnny Shea, one long and one short, plus a set-up by Bivens, gave the Broncs their greatest lead which was 14 counters, and ended the Hastings scoring. In the dying moments a field goal by Fellers and foul tosses by Parker cut the margin by four points.

The Methodists had more opportunities at the baskets during the first half, but as usual had great difficulty getting the sphere through the iron circle. The Keel squad had the advantage during the second period, however, and by a fast-breaking offense was able to get many easy scoring chances. The score:

Fight Fans Boo When Judges Award Dundee Verdict Over Briton

BY LES CONKLIN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 — Vince Dundee, the Salvation Army boxer who is often down but never out, found himself unexpectedly thrust into the middleweight spotlight today as a result of his close victory over Len Harvey, highly touted king of the British 160-pounders, in a rip-roaring 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night that marked the Briton's American ring debut.

Comes Up From Floor.

Belted to the canvas for counts of eight and nine in the first round, the swarthy Italian got up off the floor to eke out a victory over the gangling Briton. It was Harvey's second setback in 251 starts, if you believe all you read in the British newspapers.

Tough as a boarding house steak, Dundee kept boring in and piling up points in the infighting, earning the thunderous plaudits of the ring worms who lash themselves into a lather of frenzy at the sight of an underdog shambling out of the resin dust and staging a rally. The Italian's body attack eventually took much of the steam out of Harvey's punches.

Scribes Criticise Verdict.

Although the judges and referee were unanimous in awarding the verdict to Dundee, half a dozen ringside observers, including the writer, thought Harvey won the fight. One veteran scribe gave the Newark, N. J., boy only one round, while several others called the scrap a draw.

The Briton never protests a decision—in fact he has had occasion to squawk on only one previous verdict. But his trainer, Archie Watson, and Harvey's beautiful blonde wife made no bones about expressing their belief that Len had been robbed of a well-earned victory.

Briton Not Complaining.

Harvey said in his dressing room after the fight that he couldn't understand how Dundee managed to survive those two knockdowns in the first stanza. When he put them down across the pond, they invariably stayed put.

"I might have been better off if I hadn't scored those knockdowns," he said wryly. "As it was, I became over-anxious and fought myself out of my stride. I was so anxious to make a good impression that I made a bad one."

Englishman Looks Good.

As a matter of fact, he did nothing of the sort. His short, jolting lefts had Dundee reeling time and again, and at rare intervals he uncorked a honey of an overhand right which he should have used oftener. And his engaging smile under punishment soon caught the fancy of the crowd.

Harvey will do much better when he becomes accustomed to the American style of fighting. Accustomed to clean breaks in England, he was at a loss in the infighting, and also was bothered by repeated warnings by the referee. The Briton had a trick of back-handing his opponent with his left, and also was cautioned by the referee for heeling with his glove and giving Vince the elbow on close quarters.

Dundee "Leaping Lena."

Dundee, the shorter of the two, was a regular "Leaping Lena." He kept jumping off the floor and chopping rights to the Englishman's nose and mouth, drawing a stream of claret. The Italian looked for all the world like Gus Sonnenberg demonstrating his flying tackle.

About 10,000 fans witnessed the fracas. Harvey was a two to one favorite.

Trio Setting Pace In Pocket Compet

Wise	4	3	1	.750
Knight	4	2	2	.500

A possible three-cornered tie looms in the pocket billiards championship tournament at the Saratoga Parlors. After the completion of Friday night's games, Davey, Strasheim and Wise were locked fast in a triple tie for leadership, each with three victories and one defeat. Monday night's program, which will conclude the round robin, may not settle the championship contention, as each of the three leaders will be pitted against an opponent ranking in the second division and play-off of a tie most probably will be required in awarding the 1931 championship in capital city cue circles.

The Friday schedule had its upset in the defeat of Cal Knight, present champion, by George Strasheim, 68 to 100. Strasheim completed his string of 100 in 29 innings and had high runs of 20 and 19.

Leonard Davey, winner of the 1930 tournament, turned back L. Willman, 100 to 92, in a tight contest of 37 innings. Davey's best break was 30, while Willman once reeled off a run of 20.

Carl Wise kept in the championship running by outplaying Paul Mills, 100 to 62 in 35 innings. Mills' best run was 17.

Rassler Gets Rough; ex-Champ Socks Him Daisy Right On Chin

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 10—Here primarily as a referee in a wrestling match, Jack Dempsey had staged a "comeback" as a fighter today as the result of knocking Billy Edwards, grappler, sprawling with a short right to the chin after Edwards had swung wildly at him.

Annoyed when Dempsey awarded a decision over him to Jim O'Dowd, Edwards, locally known as a tough guy on referees, swung a haymaker which barely grazed the former ring champion's chin. Dempsey calmly, but promptly, landed a blow which raised the wrestler off his feet and sent him hurtling head foremost to the mat.

Couldn't Stand For It.

"I didn't want to do it," Dempsey said, "and I didn't hurt him, but I couldn't stand up in front of a crowd like that and let the fellow punch me around."

The blow was preceded by other incidents during the wrestling match wherein Edwards ripped the shirt from Dempsey's back and all but deprived the former champion of his silken undershirt. Dempsey was plainly irritated, but did not retaliate until Edwards actually swung on him.

Ten thousand fans, drawn to the arena mainly by the mauler's presence, howled their glee as he snapped the short right that sent the wrestler sprawling. When the atmosphere cooled, a score or so of women spectators staged an impromptu battle for possession of Dempsey's torn shirt.

(Editor's note: Billy Edwards is a former Nebraska wrestler, making headquarters in Nebraska City 10 years or more ago. On two or three occasions, he wrestled preliminary bouts on Lincoln programs.)

Leaders Stick To Habit of Winning

The St. Marks Reformed cagers added another victory to their string of consecutive triumphs when they trounced St. Paul M. E., 23-15, Friday night in class B division of the Y. M. C. A. Church league.

Elm Park M. E., also an unbeaten quintet, hurdled Second Baptist, 27-18. The Elm Park lads have been bowling over their opponents consistently this season.

East Lincoln Christian turned in the highest number of points of the evening in the game in which the East Lincoln youths defeated Tabernacle Christians, 34-9.

The two quintets of College View lads met and the result was a lopsided 29-2 victory for Union Church over Our Savior's Lutheran. The scores:

BLUEJAY CAGERS BEATEN BY BEARS

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—Washington university of St. Louis last night began its defense of the Missouri Valley title it shared last year with Creighton university, by defeating Creighton in a fast game here by the score of 26 to 23. Creighton led at the half, 12 to 9, and increased the margin to 16 to 9 as the second half started, only to see the Bears come back and tie the score at 20 each. Steideman then sent Washington into the lead with a gift shot and Sauselle sewed up the game with two quick baskets.

Jackson Ready To Meet Manhattan

Jackson high entertains the cage squad from Manhattan, Kansas, high tonight at 8 o'clock on the Jackson floor. The Kansas school is noted for its strong basketball teams and it appears that Coach Clarence Little's 1931 quintet is no exception to the rule. Manhattan high won the North Central Kansas league cage championship last season and the Jayhawk mentor has two regulars, Robert Flick and Captain Ed Wreath available this year. The Manhattan team lost the season opener to McPherson, champion of the Arkansas Valley league, by a narrow margin.

Beechner Team Improving.

With but one regular from last year's team on his squad, Coach Ralph Beechner has done exceptionally well with his material at Jackson and his squad has been showing rapid improvement. Jackson upset Havelock high, 17-13, in a Greater Lincoln league tilt at Havelock last night and appears to have found the range of the basket at last. Against Omaha Tech, the Beechner five was able to convert but a single field goal from many chances.

The Kansas quintet will be eager to even scores with the local team, as Jackson, under the regime of Stuart Baller, won a close decision over the Kansans last year. Beechner probably will start his regulars, Foster and Kanzler, forwards; Bowens, center, and Jordan and Amos guards. Max Roper will referee.

RESERVES LOSE TO BETHANY HI

Horney Quintet on Short End of Court Clash With Clarkmen.

The tall Bethany high cage team presented an airtight defense which held the Lincoln reserve quintet to a trio of field goals in handing Coach Horney's lads a neat 15-8 lacing on the Bethany floor Friday night.

Coach Clark started his second string but removed them soon after the opening whistle. The regulars were slow in starting, however, and failed to score in the first quarter, which ended with the Red and Black second string ahead 2-0. Two field goals by Ronald Shuman plus a basket and a free toss by Williams brought Nethany a 7-2 lead at the half.

Basket Hits Scarce.

But three baskets were counted in the third period, one each by the Shuman twins and one by Card, center of the Lincoln quint. The fourth period also saw little scoring. Ronald Shuman and Williams each potting a two-pointer, while a basket by Card and a pair of foul throws constituted the scoring of Coach Horney's team.

The reserves had numerous open shots at the basket but saw most of their efforts roll around the hoop and fall outside. The Lincoln third string won a preliminary tilt from the Bethany seconds, 12-8. The score:

"Big Six" Basket Race Gets Under Way Saturday Night

Huskers at Home With Missouri; Oklahoma at Ames With Iowa State

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

The Big Six conference basketball campaign is on tonight, with Lincoln and Ames the scenes of the opening engagements. Nebraska and Missouri, traditional rivals, will meet at the university coliseum at 8 o'clock, while Oklahoma and Iowa State will clash at Ames in the other conference contest.

Tigers Last Year's Champs.

The Nebraska-Missouri game is the headliner of the program, the Tigers having captured the 1930 conference championship and Nebraska being figured to have a squad this winter with the ability to seriously test the Bengal chances to repeat.

In preliminary games, the Huskers and Tigers have suffered about the same treatment, the Nebraska outfit having dropped five of six games, while the Tigers have been set back in four contests. Coach Charley Black's Cornhuskers, however, have been facing the more strenuous opposition, having played intersectional engagements in five of the six games.

Even Chance to Win.

Nebraska will be conceding the Tigers nothing in tonight's game, entering the contest with at least an even chance for victory. The Scarlet, while it has lost five consecutive games, has made a creditable showing, the point margin in five defeats being the slender edge of 23 points, 178 to 201.

This stiff competition preliminary to the opening of the conference schedule has been figured to season the squad for the Big Six race and the Cornhuskers should enter the game tonight at mid-season stride.

Missouri Improving.

After a floundering start, the Missouri team has shown signs of improvement. Last Monday, the Tigers forced Washington to an extra period before the Bears capped the verdict. The Washington quintet trimmed Creighton at Omaha Friday night.

The Nebraska lineup for the Missouri game will find the usual combination of Fisher and Davey at forwards, Maclay at center, Hokuf and Koster at guards. Return of Davey and Hokuf to active duty is figured to strengthen the Nebraska quintet. Lineup:

Tonight's Lineup.

Nebraska—	Pos.	—Missouri
Fisher	f	Zinn
Davey	f	Wagner
Maclay	c	Huhn
Hokuf	g	VanDyne
Koster	g	Boechemeier

Officials—John Wulf, Kansas, and V. S. Egan, Grinnell.

Oklahoma, roughly handled by all conference teams during the 1930 race, is prepared to start after revenge tonight when the Sooners meet Iowa State college on the Ames court. The Oklahoma tribe copped two games from Texas and Southern Methodist and then finished training with wins over Bethany college and the Oklahoma Aggies.

Sooners Favored.

The Sooners, therefore, will enter the Iowa State game slightly favored to win. Iowa State, however, has a good chance to smear the Normanites, as Coach Louis Menze has five veterans on the Ames roster, along with some promising recruits. The Cyclones have won two of three early season contests.

Kansas and Kansas Aggies, figured to come in for a big cut in the conference spoils, delay their conference inaugural until Monday evening. Kansas takes on Oklahoma at Lawrence, while the Kaggies play Missouri. The Jayhawkers have won six non-conference games while the Wildcats have finished ahead in five.

Hawkeyes Defeat Nebraska Matmen

IOWA CITY, Ia., Jan. 10—Iowa defeated Nebraska in wrestling here last night, 17-11. The Cornhuskers won three of the first four matches, but lacked strength in the heavier divisions. The Nebraska squad meets Cornell college at Mt. Vernon tonight. Summary:

125 pounds—Peer (I) won from Lindskog (N), decision after two extra periods.

135 pounds—Larson (N) won from Amlie (I), decision.

Heavyweight—Righter (I) won from Petersen (N), decision after two extra periods.

FAIRBURY SPURT BEATS BEATRICE

FAIRBURY, Neb., Jan. 10—Fairbury upset Beatrice in an exciting basketball game here last night, 16-14. Two baskets by Bennett, Fairbury forward, in the last few minutes of play broke a 12-12 tie. Beatrice held a 7-2 lead at the end of the first half. In the curtain-raiser the Beatrice reserves trimmed the Fairbury reserves, 18-7. Score:

Crete Hi Clicks In Cage Triumph

CRETE, Neb., Jan. 10—Crete high took a long stride toward Mid-State league honors last night when the Cardinals beat Kearney, 29-12. Crete was ahead, 16-6, at the end of the half and had the game well in hand throughout the second period.

Crete scoring honors were well divided, the Cardinal offense clicking in sensational fashion at times. Kearney's scoring strength was somewhat cripled by the absence of Emil Panek. Score:

Teachers Balked By Waverly High

The Teachers high cagers gulped their second defeat of the week when Waverly trimmed them 19-7 Friday night on the university coliseum court. The Waverly basketeers slipped through seven field goals and made good five gift tosses to account for their total.

Although nearly the entire Teachers squad was inserted into the lineup, the Waverly defense was able to stop the Teachers' scoring. Only Laub, Eis and Dier were able to break through the Waverly guards for a basket. The other Teachers' point was the result of a free-throw by Lanning. The score:

JACKSON GRABS BASKET VICTORY

Beechner Outfit Trims Shoptown Basketmen In Court Sport.

The red and white banner of Jackson high school topped the purple and gold pennant of Havelock again Friday night when the Beechner quintet carried away a 17-13 victory from the Shoptown court. The Jackson team chalked up nine points in the first half, while the Engineers counted a single field goal.

The University Place lads opened with four baskets in the first quarter while holding Havelock to three shots at the hoop. Each of these attempts went for naught and Jackson held an 8-0 advantage at the end of the initial period.

Young placed Havelock in the scoring column with a basket early in the second quarter. Baskets by Foster and Jordan boosted the Jackson score to 12 points at the midway mark, while Havelock retained credit for a single basket.

Havelock Rallies.

The Delaporte team tallied in the second half and drew up within two points of the victors. A free throw gave Jackson a three-point lead at the end of the third period. Each team scored two baskets in the final quarter and Jackson added an additional gift toss.

Max Jordan, guard, was the outstanding player in the Jackson lineup. His work both on starting plays and on defense was very effective. Foster shared scoring honors with Jordan by finding the hoop twice with field goals and once with a free throw. The passing of the Beechner team was superior to that of the Engineers.

Although the Havelock cagers were unable to accomplish much in the first half, they came back in the last two periods to play a commendable brand of basketball. The defensive play of Captain J. Frueauf was exceptionally good. The eight-semester rule eliminated Helvey from the Engineers' lineup and the loss was keenly felt. The score:

BENTON CAGERS DISPLAY CLASS

Missouri Youths Romp To Decisive Victory Over Lincoln.

It was a finely-oiled St. Joseph Benton high school cage machine which exhibited its power against Lincoln high on Irving maples Friday night before a sparsely filled auditorium. The final count favored the Josies, 24-17, after a Lincoln rally had put the Red and Black quintet in the running, only to see the Bentonites pull out a seven-point margin.

Benton was one of the best trained high school quints that has performed against Lincoln in the past few seasons. Fortified with plenty of height in the forward wall and possessing a pair of clever guards, the Springermen had teamwork down to perfection. Of the nine men composing the squad, five are third-year men and the other four are playing their second year.

Whitaker Scores First.

Whitaker, guard de luxe, put the Cards out in front after two minutes of uneventful play when the Lincoln defense allowed him to get under the goal to score. Harold Miller counted on a follow-in shot to tie it up, but two free tosses by Hickman, six foot three inch center, gave the Cards a 4-2 lead at the quarter.

Wampler converted on Whitaker's foul, but the latter player retaliated seconds later when Harold Miller was guilty of his second violation of the evening. Carlson tied it up with a beautiful shot after a dribble down the entire floor, and the stocky center followed it up with another basket, putting Lincoln two points in front. Two baskets by Holcomb and one each by Whitaker and Erickson, however, came in quick succession and put the Springermen out in front, 13-7 at half time.

Lincoln Rally Fails.

A determined Lincoln assault, led by Carlson and Herod Miller, put the Capital City crew within three points of the visitors early in the fourth quarter, but Cross and Erickson counted to put a Kayo on any Lincoln hopes of winning.

The Lincoln team played disorganized basketball, little teamwork being displayed by the Ballermen. The brilliant offensive play of Johnny Carlson and the defensive exhibition put on by Ray Baldwin, sub forward, were the bright spots of the evening for Coach Baller. Benton's guards, Whitaker and Holcomb, were the individual stars of the game, Whitaker pulling down 10 points for high individual scoring honors.

Tonight the Lincoln quint will invade York for a game with Floyd Gautsch's Buff and Blue five, and the travelling Cardinals will tangle with Grand Island high on the Third City court. The score:

Telephone Team Steps On Dewitt

The Lincoln Telephone company basketeers stepped away from DeWitt in the second half to wind up with a 19-14 victory Friday night on the Lincoln "Y" floor. The score was knotted at the midway marker, but the Telephone lads chalked up five baskets and a free throw to DeWitt's two baskets and two free throws and walked away with a five-point margin.

WESLEYAN HIGH PLAYS ASHLAND

The Wesleyan high squad meets Coach Bryan Harrell's Ashland leather tossers tonight at 8 o'clock in the Wesleyan gymnasium. The game will be preceded by a tilt between second strings of the two schools which starts at seven.

The Wesleyan high squad has been progressing steadily each week and Coach Mitten's team will give opponents plenty of trouble if more accuracy in goal shooting can be developed. The Young Methodists lost a last minute tussle to Syracuse early in the week, 17-15.

Coach Harrell has an inexperienced squad at Ashland, but indications are that the veteran mentor has brought them along fast, as the Ashland flippers held the powerful Crete five even during the first half of a holiday tilt before finally falling before the Kleinmen.

Pershing Invited To Referee Relays

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 10—(AP.)—Efforts will be renewed to get General John J. Pershing to serve as honorary referee of this year's Drake relays, it was decided at a meeting of the relay committee meeting here.

E. C. Lytton, business manager at Drake who has conducted negotiations twice with the general for his appearance here, was delegated to renew the invitation, since Pershing has said he hoped to serve sometime when other engagements did not conflict.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— By John Hix

Golf is not the only thing that has had its miniature stunts. In Fairbury, Neb., there was conducted a miniature writing contest, and A. S. Bishop, after "training" for two weeks wrote his 49,170 letters on a postcard, comprising 1639 sentences of five words each, in eleven and a half hours.

Charles Von Berg, the 67-year-old hockey player, had the unusual pleasure of returning to his old home town in triumph. He moved away from it when he was six, and returned when he was 58, playing in a state championship game as captain and goalie. He still plays a remarkable game, and is also a nimble, first-rate tennis player.

WESLEYAN BOWS TO BRONCHO FIVE

Methodists Bowled Over In Conference Opener At Hastings.

HASTINGS, Neb., Jan. 10—The Hastings college Bronchos pranced to a 34-24 win over Nebraska Wesleyan in a spirited cage tilt here last night. It was the formal bow in the state college conference basketball race for both squads and the Hastings entry again established itself as a leading contender for cage laurels.

The Bronchos got off to a big lead early in the first half, running up 11 points while the Waldorf crew was able to count but once on a free throw by Fitz. Trailing 10 counters, the Methodists began to drop a few of the numerous short shots they were getting and goals by Ward, Fellers and Trott brought the Methodists to a slim two points in the rear near the end of the half. Bruntz dropped through a two-pointer to give Coach Keel's outfit a 13-9 lead as the half ended.

Second Half Speedy.

Both quintets opened the second period with bursts of speed. Glenn dribbled in for a goal and the feat was duplicated by Fitz of the Methodists. Ad Bivens dropped a two-pointer and Fitz retaliated with a great one-handed effort and the margin still was four points.

The Bronchos began to draw away, however, and successive baskets by Bruntz and Ad Bivens, along with a gift toss by Bivens, put the local five in front with a 13 margin before Johnson found the loop with a long toss.

Ad Bivens counted on a nice follow-in shot and Ward kept the pace with one from the corner of the court. Two baskets by Johnny Shea, one long and one short, plus a set-up by Bivens, gave the Broncs their greatest lead which was 14 counters, and ended the Hastings scoring. In the dying moments a field goal by Fellers and foul tosses by Parker cut the margin by four points.

The Methodists had more opportunities at the baskets during the first half, but as usual had great difficulty getting the sphere through the iron circle. The Keel squad had thea dvantage during the second period, however, and by a fast-breaking offense was able to get many easy scoring chances. The score:

Fight Fans Boo When Judges Award Dundee Verdict Over Briton

BY LES CONKLIN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 — Vince Dundee, the Salvation Army boxer who is often down but never out, found himself unexpectedly thrust into the middleweight spotlight today as a result of his close victory over Len Harvey, highly touted king of the British 160-pounders, in a rip-roaring 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night that marked the Briton's American ring debut.

Comes Up From Floor.

Belted to the canvas for counts of eight and nine in the first round, the swarthy Italian got up off the floor to eke out a victory over the gangling Briton. It was Harvey's second setback in 251 starts, if you believe all you read in the British newspapers.

Tough as a boarding house steak, Dundee kept boring in and piling up points in the infighting, earning the thunderous plaudits of the ring worms who lash themselves into a lather of frenzy at the sight of an underdog shambling out of the resin dust and staging a rally. The Italian's body attack eventually took much of the steam out of Harvey's punches.

Scribes Criticise Verdict.

Although the judges and referee were unanimous in awarding the verdict to Dundee, half a dozen ringside observers, including the writer, thought Harvey won the fight. One veteran scribe gave the Newark, N. J., boy only one round, while several others called the scrap a draw.

The Briton never protests a decision—in fact he has had occasion to squawk on only one previous verdict. But his trainer, Archie Watson, and Harvey's beautiful blonde wife made no bones about expressing their belief that Len had been robbed of a well-earned victory.

Briton Not Complaining.

Harvey said in his dressing room after the fight that he couldn't understand how Dundee managed to survive those two knockdowns in the first stanza. When he put them down across the pond, they invariably stayed put.

"I might have been better off if I hadn't scored those knockdowns," he said wryly. "As it was, I became over-anxious and fought myself out of my stride. I was so anxious to make a good impression that I made a bad one."

Englishman Looks Good.

As a matter of fact, he did nothing of the sort. His short, jolting lefts had Dundee reeling time and again, and at rare intervals he uncorked a honey of an overhand right which he should have used oftener. And his engaging smile under punishment soon caught the fancy of the crowd.

Harvey will do much better when he becomes accustomed to the American style of fighting. Accustomed to clean breaks in England, he was at a loss in the infighting, and also was bothered by repeated warnings by the referee. The Briton had a trick of back-handing his opponent with his left, and also was cautioned by the referee for heeling with his glove and giving Vince the elbow on close quarters.

Dundee "Leaping Lena."

Dundee, the shorter of the two, was a regular "Leaping Lena." He kept jumping off the floor and chopping rights to the Englishman's nose and mouth, drawing a stream of claret. The Italian looked for all the world like Gus Sonnenberg demonstrating his flying tackle.

About 10,000 fans witnessed the fracas. Harvey was a two to one favorite.

Trio Setting Pace In Pocket Compet

Wise	4	3	1	.750
Knight	4	2	2	.500
Willman	4	1	3	.250
Mills	4	0	4	.000

A possible three-cornered tie looms in the pocket billiards championship tournament at the Saratoga Parlors. After the completion of Friday night's games, Davey, Strasheim and Wise were locked fast in a triple tie for leadership, each with three victories and one defeat. Monday night's program, which will conclude the round robin, may not settle the championship contention, as each of the three leaders will be pitted against an opponent ranking in the second division and play-off of a tie most probably will be required in awarding the 1931 championship in capital city cue circles.

The Friday schedule had its upset in the defeat of Cal Knight, present champion, by George Strasheim, 68 to 100. Strasheim completed his string of 100 in 29 innings and had high runs of 20 and 19.

Leonard Davey, winner of the 1930 tournament, turned back L. Willman, 100 to 92, in a tight contest of 37 innings. Davey's best break was 30, while Willman once reeled off a run of 20.

Carl Wise kept in the championship running by outplaying Paul Mills, 100 to 62 in 35 innings. Mills' best run was 17.

The Monday night program pits Wise against Knight, Strasheim against Willman and Davey against Mills.

Leaders Stick To Habit of Winning

The St. Marks Reformed cagers added another victory to their string of consecutive triumphs when they trounced St. Paul M. E., 23-15, Friday night in class B division of the Y. M. C. A. Church league.

Elm Park M. E., also an unbeaten quintet, hurdled Second Baptist, 27-18. The Elm Park lads have been bowling over their opponents consistently this season.

East Lincoln Christian turned in the highest number of points of the evening in the game in which the East Lincoln youths defeated Tabernacle Christians, 34-9.

The two quintets of College View lads met and the result was a lopsided 29-2 victory for Union Church over Our Savior's Lutheran. The scores:

BLUEJAY CAGERS BEATEN BY BEARS

OMAHA, Jan. 10—(AP)—Washington university of St. Louis last night began its defense of the Missouri Valley title it shared last year with Creighton university, by defeating Creighton in a fast game here by the score of 26 to 23. Creighton led at the half, 12 to 9, and increased the margin to 16 to 9 as the second half started, only to see the Bears come back and tie the score at 20 each. Steideman then sent Washington into the lead with a gift shot and Sauselle sewed up the game with two quick baskets.

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 10—Here primarily as a referee in a wrestling match, Jack Dempsey had staged a "comeback" as a fighter today as the result of knocking Billy Edwards, grappler, sprawling with a short right to the chin after Edwards had swung wildly at him.

Annoyed when Dempsey awarded a decision over him to Jim O'Dowd, Edwards, locally known as a tough guy on referees, swung a haymaker which barely grazed the former ring champion's chin. Dempsey calmly, but promptly, landed a blow which raised the wrestler off his feet and sent him hurtling head foremost to the mat.

Couldn't Stand For It.

"I didn't want to do it," Dempsey said, "and I didn't hurt him, but I couldn't stand up in front of a crowd like that and let the fellow punch me around."

The blow was preceded by other incidents during the wrestling match wherein Edwards ripped the shirt from Dempsey's back and all but deprived the former champion of his silken undershirt. Dempsey was plainly irritated, but did not retaliate until Edwards actually swung on him.

Ten thousand fans, drawn to the arena mainly by the mauler's presence, howled their glee as he snapped the short right that sent the wrestler sprawling. When the atmosphere cooled, a score or so of women spectators staged an impromptu battle for possession of Dempsey's torn shirt.

(Editor's note: Billy Edwards is a former Nebraska wrestler, making headquarters in Nebraska City 10 years or more ago. On two or three occasions, he wrestled preliminary bouts on Lincoln programs.)

Jackson Ready To Meet Manhattan

Jackson high entertains the cage squad from Manhattan, Kansas, high tonight at 8 o'clock on the Jackson floor. The Kansas school is noted for its strong basketball teams and it appears that Coach Clarence Little's 1931 quintet is no exception to the rule. Manhattan high won the North Central Kansas league cage championship last season and the Jayhawk mentor has two regulars, Robert Fliok and Captain Ed Wreath available this year. The Manhattan team lost the season opener to McPherson, champion of the Arkansas Valley league, by a narrow margin.

Beechner Team Improving.

With but one regular from last year's team on his squad, Coach Ralph Beechner has done exceptionally well with his material at Jackson and his squad has been showing rapid improvement. Jackson upset Havelock high, 17-13, in a Greater Lincoln league tilt at Havelock last night and appears to have found the range of the basket at last. Against Omaha Tech, the Beechner five was able to convert but a single field goal from many chances.

The Kansas quintet will be eager to even scores with the local team, as Jackson, under the regime of Stuart Baller, won a close decision over the Kansans last year. Beechner probably will start his regulars, Foster and Kanzler, forwards; Bowens, center, and Jordan and Amos guards. Max Roper will referee.

RESERVES LOSE TO BETHANY HI

Horney Quintet on Short End of Court Clash With Clarkmen.

The tall Bethany high cage team presented an airtight defense which held the Lincoln reserve quintet to a trio of field goals in handing Coach Horney's lads a neat 15-8 lacing on the Bethany floor Friday night.

Coach Clark started his second string but removed them soon after the opening whistle. The regulars were slow in starting, however, and failed to score in the first quarter, which ended with the Red and Black second string ahead 2-0. Two field goals by Ronald Shuman plus a basket and a free toss by Williams brought Nethany a 7-2 lead at the half.

Basket Hits Scarce.

But three baskets were counted in the third period, one each by the Shuman twins and one by Card, center of the Lincoln quint. The fourth period also saw little scoring, Ronald Shuman and Williams each potting a two-pointer, while a basket by Card and a pair of foul throws constituted the scoring of Coach Horney's team.

The reserves had numerous open shots at the basket but saw most of their efforts roll around the hoop and fall outside. The Lincoln third string won a preliminary tilt from the Bethany seconds, 12-8. The score:
